WEDNESDAY, MAY 16, 1866.

MR. H. L. RICHMOND, of Meadville, has consented to be a candidate for Additional Law Judge in the Sixth district.

ERIE PEOPLE are talking of the erection of water-works of sufficient capacity for fire as well as domestic purposes.

PITHOLE is exultant over the repeal of the excise duty on crude petroleum. A new face has come upon the oil interest there.

MR. B. L. SEAGO, an editor of Atlanta, Ga., committed suicide at St. Louis, on Sunday last. Love, poverty, sorrow and misanthropy the cause.

IT has been ascertained that the Government will lose between two hundred and three hundred thousand dollars by the failure of CULVER, PENN & CO., the New York bankers.

THE Mexican Republicans at Washington fear that Santa Anna's return of Secretary Seward's visit indicates that on his return to Mexico he may replace Maximilian by a nominal Republican Government, guaranteeing the French debt.

THE Union men of Texas have put forth a declaration of principles, holding secession to have been null and void from the beginning, and that the debt contracted to give it vitality ought to be repudiated, while the national debt ought to be paid.

WE joyfully give the President thanks for signing the amended habeas corpus act, intended to protect civil and military officers of the Government from malicious prosecution for acts committed during the civil war in discharge of duty or in obedience to orders.

PROMINENT New York physicians now deny that there has been a case of real cholera in that city or harbor this spring. They also affirm that instead of increase of bowel disorders, which usually precedes epidemic cholera, there has actually been a dimination of such complaints.

GEN. WADE HAMPTON has recently tried to "fire the Southern heart" by charging General Sherman with burning Columbia, South Carolina. Affidavits, taken in that city, of persons resident there at the time of the conflagration, show that the fires were lighted by the rebels before the national troops entered.

A YOUNG CLERK at St. Louis, on Sunday, undertook to kill himself by shooting, because a gentleman would not let him marry his daughter. He went into a lumber yard, and commenced a preliminary prayer, when three of his young friends surprised him, took away his pistol, and advised him to elope with the girl.

THE Republican State Committee meet at Philadelphia to-day to organize for the gubernatorial campaign. The Committee was fortunately chosen of intelligent, enterprising and experienced gentlemen. We venture the prediction that the canvass will be conducted with spirit, and that the Committee will not recede from the high stand taken by the Convention in its Platform.

MR. E. H. CHASE, President of the Petroleum Bank, recently announced himself as a Republican candidate for the Legislature from Crawford county. This drew out a joint protest from many leading citizens of Titusville, who urge the odium of the failure of that institution as a reason why he should not stand as a candidate. The Titusville Herald endorses the protest.

A popular requisition has been made on MR. JOSEPH I. CHASE to allow his name to be used for Representative.

THE President has been making a stump speech to the British people, through the intervention of a correspondent of the London Times as reporter. In this talk he freely admits that the tendency of his Policy is to bring the rebel element at the South and the secession element at the North into close co-operation with each other, and into power in the national councils. He also indulges in the folly of denouncing the men by whom he was elected Vice President as disunionists, whom it is his duty to put down.

THE Nashville Press and Times reports an interesting conversation which recently occurred between a Mississippi planter and a rebel soldier of Tennessee. The planter was declaiming against the new franchise law by which rebels are prevented from voting in Tennessee, whereupon the soldier replied as follows:

"I can't blame the Legislature for acting as it did. It did nothing but what we intended to do had we won the fight in place of the Yankees. If we had held Tennessee we would not have allowed Union men to vote or hold office, and there is no sense in my abusing others for doing to me what I had fully determined to do to them had circumstances been different. I don't deny that it is pretty rough to be denied a vote, but still it is the fate of war, and I know that we Confederates were determined to disfranchise all who were against us. We have no business at all to complain."

A GOOD many Kentuckians fought on the rebel side at Atlanta, and were killed. Some living Kentuckians, now resident in Georgia, have sent an appeal to their native State for means to bury these rebels in a cemetery. So far, we see no reason to object. But the grounds on which the appeal is urged does not suit our views of reconstruction, however satisfactory it may be to conservatives. Those "hapless though illustrious sons" of Kentucky died in a "manly defense of a sacred cause." Kentucky regarded them as the "pride of her heart," and "the world would heap obloquy on us should we fail to signalize their deeds in a manner becoming the gratitude of southern hearts and the glory of southern arms." "Their gallantry will be written on the future page of Kentucky's renown;" and if the money for the proposed cemetery is furnished, "it shall be expended in such a manner as will elicit pilgrims from afar to worship as at a Mecca shrine, the place so sacred to the memory of the loved and lost."

The Gettysburg Monument.

The contract for the erection of the Gettysburg monument has been awarded to James G. Batterson, of Hartford, Ct., at a cost of $50,000.

The monument will stand upon the crown of the hill where the cemetery is located. Around it, in semi-circular slopes, will lie—the bodies being now buried—the honored dead, each man being separately coffined, and the men of each State together in sections. The division between the States are marked by alleys leading from the monument to the outer circle; the coffined rows are divided by continuous granite blocks six inches in height, upon which the name and regiment of each soldier, so far as ascertained, is inscribed as for his proper headstone.

The monument is twenty-three feet square at the base, and fifty-five feet in height. At the angles of the base are four buttresses, each supporting a colossal statue in a sitting posture. These statues are allegorical, and represent respectively War, History, Peace, and Plenty. War is represented by the figure of an American soldier; who, resting from the conflict, relates to History the story of the battle and the names of the honored dead, while History with her stylus and tablet writes down the imperishable record. The corresponding statues symbolize Peace and Plenty. Peace is represented by a mechanic with the implements of his trade about him. Plenty is typified by a female figure with a sheaf of wheat and ploughshare. These last figures indicate the industry and activity which shall succeed the ravages of war, and the abundance and prosperity which are the crowning results of the glorious victory here achieved.

Upon the richly moulded cornice rests an octagonal plinth, bearing in basso relievo the coat of arms of the United States. On the shaft above and encircling it are eighteen stars in basso relievo, representing the States which remained loyal throughout the fiery trial.

The capital is finely moulded, and supports a three-quarter globe, upon which stands the colossal statue, fifteen feet high, representing the Genius of Liberty clasping within her left arm the folds of the American flag, while in her raised right hand she holds the victor's wreath of laurel. The pedestal is to be made of fine white granite, and the statues of white American marble.

CITY ITEMS.

Discrepancy.

DR. SILL: That confirms my long entertained opinion. I have often seen flattering accounts of other dental establishments of Penn street, and the other day, in your absence, my extreme suffering from an aching tooth, compelled me to go into a free gas establishment, where they claim to write their own compliments. Needing but one tooth out, I so expressed myself, and inhaled the gas, and to my astonishment, on returning to consciousness, two teeth were out. One of them, under your treatment, would have been saved, as the one you have just pulled is sufficient testimony. So if the people have to give up their good teeth to support laughing gas, it is dear in reckless hands, though given free. But I suppose such establishments must have their pay in some way. You certainly have enough to do, but if it were known and believed how skillful you and your partner gave the gas, and at the same time that you are careful to preserve all the good natural teeth, the people would overwhelm you with business. If this opinion is worth anything to you let it be published.

Peace hath its Victories.

To prevent or conquer disease is a grand achievement; and as surely as bullet and bayonet will destroy, so surely will HOSTETTER'S BITTERS preserve and prolong life.

This is the most trying period of the year. The stamina of the strongest yields more or less to the consuming temperature of midsummer. Vigor oozes from every pore. The strength of man passes away in invisible vapor, and weaker woman becomes relaxed and nerveless. It was to meet such difficulties that Hostetter's Bitters were given to society. It is to prevent the evil consequences to which an unbraced, depleted, debilitated organization is liable, that they are recommended as a SUMMER TONIC for both sexes. Old people die of exhaustion every day, who might have kept death at bay for years to come, by an occasional resort to this powerful and harmless vegetable stomachic.

Nine tenths of the community, rich as well as poor, work continually. If their hands are unemployed, their brains are busy, and head work is as depressing to the vital energies as muscular toil. But tone the system with Hostetter's Bitters and the wear and tear of business life will be comparatively unfelt even in the most oppressive weather. No languor will be experienced, for as fast as the vital forces are expended they will be recruited and renewed by this healthful restorative. As a summer Invigorant it is indispensable to young and old. Sold everywhere.

Merchants' National Bank Failure—Investigations of the House Committee.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The Post's Washington special says: The developments in the Merchants' National Bank failure, under the investigation of the House Committee, are very bad. It is believed a majority of the Committee will report against permitting any deposits in National Banks of Government funds, but if this proposition fails, stringent regulations will be adopted.

VETO OF THE COLORADO BILL.

The Government Selling Gold,

EMPEROR MAXIMILLIAN AND AMERICAN COMMERCE.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The President this afternoon returned the Colorado bill to the Senate with his objections. He does not consider the establishment of a State government in Colorado at present necessary for the welfare of the people there. The population is small, and some estimate it as low as 25,000, while the advocates of the bill reckon the number at from 35,000 to 40,000. It is not satisfactorily established that a majority of the citizens desire or are prepared for the change of a Territorial to a State government. The final objection is that the admission of Colorado at this time as a State into the Union appears to him to be incompatible with the public interests of the country. Instead of increasing, Colorado has decreased in population.

The Post says: considerable surprise has been expressed this morning at the report which is said to be supported by indisputable evidence, that the Government has been selling gold to-day. The effect has been to check the activity and depress the price of Government securities. The foreign houses which have sold 5-20's short with the view to import them, have, by this unexpected policy of the Treasury, been probably aided in their movement. It is reported that the Government has sold no gold below $1,30, but the influence of the sales has depressed the price to $1,29¼.

In the message sent to the House to-day, concerning Maximilian's discriminating against American commerce, the Secretary encloses a copy of a communication from the Collector of Customs of Brownsville, in which mention is made of an order promulgated in the City of Matamoras, Mexico, to the effect that all goods going to Brownsville from that city, or coming to Matamoras, from Brownsville, should pay duties. This order is represented to be in conflict with the policy which for four years had been recognized in that section, under which all goods entering Matamoras were free of duty, being subject thereto only when sold to go into the interior of Mexico, or having entered Matamoras as they were exported to a foreign country they are said to have been subject to one quarter of the full duties.

As the order referred to is alleged not to extend to Bagdad, Mexico, the Collector considered its object to be a discrimination against the trade of Brownsville, but he fails to state by what authority, whether purely local or otherwise, it was promulgated. The Collector in his letter, says the reason of this order is pure anger and fears that Brownsville will do all the business of Mexico, as it did before the war. They hope by a decree against Brownsville to force all the trade through their port, and put all the freights in their own hands. The working of the decree is as they hoped. No business can be done at Brownsville, as the whole trade of Brownsville is with Mexico. Of course all trade is paralized. There is, he says, one mode of redress, which would have the immediate effect of showing them that the rule will work both ways.

An order from the Secretary of the Treasury to the Collectors of the ports of New Orleans, Galveston and Indianola, not to clear any vessel for the ports of Bagdad and Matamoras, Mexico, until he had laid the matter before the authorities of Mexico. They would cause consternation at Matamoras, as they draw all their supplies of corn, hay, lard, flour, and in fact nearly all their groceries from those cities. The cities of Tampico and Vera Cruz would then do all the business of the interior of Mexico, and San Antonio, Texas, the trade of Chihuahua, while this place would feed all the Rio Grande valley. In justice to many of the prominent merchants of Matamoras, the Collector states that they are opposed to the decree, while others interested in the promotion of Bagdad are the originators.

SEWARD AND "MY POLICY."

THE COLORADO ADMISSION QUESTION.

J. Minor Botts Proposes a Plan of Reconstruction.

DAMAGE BY A TORNADO.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The Tribune's special says that it is understood that Secretary Seward will call on Santa Anna on his way to Auburn, where he is expected to make a speech in defence of the President's policy.

Members of the House interested in the passage of the Army bill, regard it as hopeless.

The World's special says the friends of the Colorado admission bill now claim that the President will approve its passage.

John Minor Botts publishes a proposition for reconstruction, which he has sent to members of Congress. He regards the present plan passed by the House as worse than a failure. He proposes to simply pass a law, embracing an oath to be taken by all men of twenty-five years and under, that they never voluntarily had anything to do with the rebellion, before they can hold any State or Federal office, and then to be taken by those of thirty or under, who cannot take the first oath, that they acknowledge the constitution of the United States, and the laws passed under it, and that they will protect the flag of their country. Thus, he says, the government of the South will be given to loyal men, and those who were either driven or unwillingly coaxed into the rebellion.

The tornado of last Sunday did much damage in the neighborhood of Cornwall, Orange county. Trees of large size were broken off or torn up by the roots, and all sorts of movable articles on farms were sent in every direction.

Act Relating to Judicial Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The following is the bill amending an act relating to the judicial proceedings in certain cases, and approved in March, 1863: It provides that any search, seizure, arrest or imprisonment made, or any acts done, or omitted to be done during the rebellion by an officer or person under or by virtue of any order, written or verbal, general or special, issued by the President or Secretary of War, or by any military officer of the United States holding the command of the department, district or place within which such seizure, search, arrest or imprisonment was made, done, or omitted to be done, either by the person, or officer to whom the order was addressed or for whom it be intended, or by any other person aiding or assisting him therein, shall be held, and are hereby declared to come within the purport of the fourth and fifth sections of the said act of March 3d, 1863, for all purposes of defense, transfer, appeal, or limitation provided therein, but no such order shall by the effect of this act, or the act to which this is an amendment, be a defence to any suit or action for any act done or omitted to be done after the passage of this act. When the said order is in writing it shall be sufficient to produce in evidence the original, with proof of the authenticity or certified copy of the same, or if sent by telegraph, the production of the telegram purporting to emanate from a military officer, shall be prima facia evidence of its authenticity, or if the original of such order or telegram is lost, and cannot be produced, secondary evidence thereof shall be admissible as in other cases. The right of removal from the State Court into the Circuit of the United States may be exercised after the appearance of the defendant and the filing of his plea or other defense in said court, at any term of said court subsequent to the term when the appearance is entered, and before a jury is empanneled to try the same; but nothing herein contained shall be held to abridge the right of such removal after judgment in the State Court; nor shall it be necessary in the State Court to offer or give surety for the filing of copies in the United States Circuit Court, but on the filing of the petitions verified as provided in said fifth section. The further proceedings in the State Court shall cease, and not be resumed until a certificate under the seal of the said Circuit Court of the United States, stating that the petitioner has failed to file copies in the said Circuit Court as the next time is produced. If the State Court shall, notwithstanding the performance of all things required for the removal of the case to the Circuit Court, proceed further in said cause or prosecution before said certificate is produced, then in that case all such further proceedings shall be void and of no effect, and all parties, Judges, officers, and other persons thenceforth proceeding thereunder, or by color thereof, shall be liable in damages therefor to the party agrieved, to be recovered by an action in a Court of the State having proper jurisdiction, or in a Circuit Court of the United States, for the District in which such further proceedings may have been, or where the party, officer, or other person so offending shall be found, and upon a recovery of damages in either court, the party who is plaintiff shall be entitled to double costs. It is made the duty of the Clerk of the State Court to furnish copies of the papers and files in the case to the party so petitioning for the removal, and upon the refusal or neglect of the Clerk to furnish such copies, the said party may docket the case in the Circuit Court of the United States, and there, upon said Circuit Court shall have jurisdiction therein, and may upon proof of such refusal or neglect of the Clerk of the State Court, and upon reasonable notice being given to the plaintiff, require him to file a declaration or petition, and upon his default, may order a non suit and dismiss the case at the costs of the plaintiff, which dismissal shall be bar to any further suit touching the matter in controversy.

Veto of the Colorado Bill—Memphis Rioters—Sherman's Funding Bill.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The veto of the Colorado Bill has been written and signed, and will be sent to the Senate after reading it to the Cabinet.

The Post's special says: The Committee on the Memphis riots will start for that place to-morrow.

The bill heretofore introduced by Senator Sherman to reduce the rate of interest on the national debt, and for funding the same, was reported back from the Committee of Finance to-day with an amendment providing that the expense of disposing of the bonds shall not exceed one per cent. of the amount disposed of. The original bill fixed the amount at two per cent. for preparing, issuing and disposing of the bonds.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

WASHINGTON, May 15, 1866.

SENATE.

Mr. Van Winkle introduced a joint resolution to suspend, temporarily, the collection of the direct tax in West Virginia. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. Van Winkle introduced a bill to apportion the issue of national currency among the several States and Territories, and the District of Columbia. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. Fessenden gave notice that he would, on Monday next, call up the reconstruction resolutions from the House, and press them to a vote as early as possible.

Mr. Trumbull reported a bill to regulate the time and fix the place for holding the United States Circuit Court in Virginia. The place is changed from Norfolk to Richmond, and the time is fixed for the last Monday in May and December. The bill was passed.

A bill authorizing the appointment of an additional Secretary of the Navy, to take the place of the present Assistant Secretary, who is about to visit Europe officially, was passed.

The joint resolution to prevent the introduction of cholera into the United States was then taken up.

After discussion, Mr. Sumner's amendment was adopted, and then the resolution proposed as a substitute for that of the House was rejected; 17 against 19.

Mr. Chanler moved to table the latter. Rejected: 15 against 22.

Mr. Henderson moved to substitute the Secretary of the Treasury for the President, wherever those words occurred, and to strike out the portion of the bill authorizing the President to empower military and naval commanders in forts, or places that have been, or are in insurrection, to enforce Quarantine regulations, and insert instead, authority to the President to direct the Revenue officers, and officers commanding Revenue Cutters, to aid in enforcing such Quarantine and health laws, as may be necessarily agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Edmunds, it was provided that all authority hereby granted shall expire on the 1st of January next.

The House bill then passed by a vote of 27 to 12.

At three o'clock a message was received from the President vetoing the Colorado bill.

The bill to prevent smuggling was discussed and passed.

The Consular appropriation bill was made the special order for to-morrow.

Mr. McDougall called for the reading of the veto message.

The Chair laid before the Senate the memorial of the Legislature of Montana for the establishment of a branch mint in that Territory, which was referred to the Committee on Finance.

Also, a memorial from the same source, asking for an extension of the southern boundary of that Territory. This was referred to the Committee on Territories.

The Chair laid before the Senate an address of the colored citizens of Chicago, dated April 23d, 1866, to the Congress of the United States, which was ordered to be printed.

Mr. Trumbull, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a bill to change the place and time of holding the United States Court in Virginia. It changes the place from Norfolk to Richmond, and provides that the time for commencing the court session shall be the first Monday in May and December. A provision giving the Chief Justice power to call a special session was stricken out, and the bill, as thus amended, was passed.

Mr. Sherman, from the Committee on Finance, reported a bill to reduce the rates of interest on national debt, and for funding the same, with an amendment, which provides that the cost of disposing of the bonds shall not exceed one per cent. of their amount. The provision before amended allowed two per cent. for preparing, issuing and disposing of such bonds.

Mr. Sherman suggested to Mr. Fessenden to set a day for calling up the above.

Mr. Fessenden said he was opposed to the bill, and was not in favor of fixing any day for taking it up.

Mr. Sherman said he would endeavor to call it up some day next week.

Mr. Fessenden moved that the Senate go into Executive session.

Mr. McDougall said it was a matter of courtesy to the President to read the message.

Mr. Fessenden said he showed no disrespect whatever to the President in his motion. He merely wished to postpone the reading until to-morrow morning, when there would be a full Senate.

Mr. McDougall said this was the first time a message had been denied a reading for so long. He could not but regard it as a vindictive assault upon the President.

After Executive session the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

The Speaker presented the address of the Swiss Committee, of Geneva, to the Congress of the United States, in regard to the assassination of Mr. Lincoln. It was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, obtained an order for the printing of an amendment which he proposed to offer as a substitute for one of the bills reported by the Committee on Reconstruction. The amendment is as follows: Strike out all after inactive in the clause in the first section in House bill 543, and insert the following: That whenever the above recited amendment shall have become part of the Constitution of the United States, and any State lately in insurrection shall have ratified the same, and shall have modified its Constitution and laws in conformity therewith, the Senators and Representatives from such State, if found duly elected and qualified, may, after having taken the required oaths of office, be admitted into Congress as such—provided, that if any State, after ratifying said amendment, and conforming its Constitution and laws therewith, shall establish an equal and just system of suffrage for all male citizens within its jurisdiction, who are not less than twenty one years of age, the Senators and Representatives from such State shall be admitted as aforesaid, without being required to await the action of other States on said amendment; and provided, further, that nothing contained in this section shall require the disfranchisement of any loyal person who is now entitled to vote.

Mr. Ashley introduced a bill to incorporate the American Cotton Company of the District of Columbia. Read twice and referred to the Committee for the District.

Mr. Washburn, of Illinois, asked leave to offer a resolution directing the Secretary of the Interior to communicate to the House whether any application has been made for the reissue of the Dundas patent for a cultivator, and if so, by whom, at what time, and for what grounds; also what effect the issue of such patent would have on the agricultural interests of the country.

Mr. Jencks, of Rhode Island, objected to the resolution being received.

Mr. Washburn represented that the resolution only asked for information, and it could be referred to the gentleman's (Jencks) Committee on Agriculture.

The objection was persisted in.

The bill to amend and organize the acts of the Territories of Nebraska, Colorado, Dacotah, Montana, Washington, Idaho, Oregon, Utah and New Mexico, came up for consideration. The bill prohibits the Legislative Assemblies from passing special acts conferring corporal power, but authorizes them to pass laws for the purpose. It declares null and void all charters heretofore granted [illegible] of the Legislatures. The sixth section provides that no person appointed [illegible]dent to any office in the Territories shall receive any compensation unless he shall have entered upon the discharge of his official duties within the territories, and that no officer shall be paid for the time he may be absent from the territory without authority from the President. It prohibits Legislative assemblies from granting divorces, but leaves that authority with the courts of the United States in the territories.

The 9th section is as follows:

And be it further enacted, That within the Territories aforesaid, there shall be no denial of the elective franchise to citizens of the United States because of color, and all persons shall be equal before the law, and all acts or parts of acts, either of Congress or of the legislative assemblies of the Territories aforesaid, inconsistent with the provisions of this act, are hereby declared null and void.

The 10th section entitles the Territorial Secretary, who performs the duties of Acting Governor in the absence of the Governor, to receive pay equal to the Governor's salary.

Mr. Leblond moved to amend by striking out the ninth section, and addressed the House in support of his amendment. He did not believe that Congress had the power to control citizens in the territories in regard to the right of suffrage. Referring to the attempt to shift the responsibility of the passage of the constitutional amendment from the Republican to the Democratic party, he said it would be found very difficult to make the people believe that thirty Democrats controlled the action of the House in an important measure. He called for the yeas and nays on his amendment. The vote was taken and the amendment was rejected by yeas, 36; nays, 75. The bill was then passed by a vote of 79 to 43.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union, resumed the consideration of the Tax bill, and amending the 25th section of the present Internal Revenue bill. A number of verbal and important amendments were made. The exemption from distraint for taxes was made to consist of school books and wearing apparel necessary for the family, arms for personal use, one cow, two hogs, five sheep and the wool thereof, provided the aggregate market value of the sheep shall not exceed $50, fuel to an amount not exceeding $25, provisions not to exceed $50, household furniture not exceeding $300, and books, tools or implements of a trade or profession not greater than $100.

Mr. Niblock suggested the adding of a proviso that there should be no distinction made in the sheep on account of race or color, but the proviso was not inserted.

The clause amendatory to the third section of the present law was amended by reducing the rate of interest in cases where property is sold for taxes, from 20 to 10 per cent.

On motion of Mr. Garfield, a new clause was inserted amending section forty-four of the present law by adding to it a proviso, that when a second assessment may have been made in case the last statement was false or fraudulent, such assessment shall not be remitted, nor shall taxes or duties collected under such assessment be recovered, refunded or paid back unless the last statement or return was not false or fraudulent, and did contain an understatement or an undervaluation.

The Committee progressed in the bill as far as page forty-four.

The Speaker presented a message from the President in reference to the following subject: Transmitting a report from the Secretary of State in answer to the House resolution of the 17th of May, in reference to clerks employed in the Department of State, and transmitting a report from the Secretary of the Treasury in answer to the House resolution of the 3d of May, concerning discriminations by the so called Maximilian Government of Mexico against American commerce, or against commerce from particular American ports. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Messrs. Boutwell and Le Blond were excused from service on the special committee ordered by the House yesterday, to investigate the Memphis riots, and Messrs. Broomall and Shanklin were appointed in their stead.

The House then adjourned.

Proposed Apportionment of National Currency!

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The resolution by Mr. Van Winkle in the Senate to-day, to apportion the national currency to several States and territories, and to the District of Columbia, authorizes and directs the Comptroller of the currency to be apportioned as follows: First, One-half, or one hundred and fifty millions shall be apportioned in proportion to the population. Second, The remaining one hundred and fifty millions shall be apportioned in proportion to the value of the annual production of agricultural, manufacturing and mining industry of each State and territory, which value shall be determined by the census exhibits, if practicable.

If otherwise, to be established by the Comptroller according to the best obtainable information. If any State shall have an excess above the maximum allowed to each State, provision is made for a reduction of the issue, and the deficiency may be brought up to the maximum, but a reduction shall take effect only as circulating notes are to be turned into the Treasury, to be cancelled on account of mutilation.

It also provides that in the organization of additional banks, preference shall be given, as far as practicable, to such existing banks in good refute as shall signify a desire to the Comptroller to be converted into national banks. It suspends the operation of the provision of the Internal Revenue act of June 30, 1865, referring to State bank and banking Associations until the 1st day of June 1867.

The Indictment Against Jeff. Davis.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The Philadelphia Ledger, received late last night, has the following from Washington: That the indictment found last week at Norfolk, against Jefferson Davis, recites that he did, on the 15th day of June, 1864, in the city of Richmond, with force of arms, unlawfully, falsely, maliciously and traitorously compass, imagine and intend to raise, levy and carry on war, insurrection and rebellion against the United States, and in order to fulfill and carry into effect his said traitorous designs, he and a great multitude of persons, who are at present unknown, armed and arrayed in a warlike manner, did falsely and traitorously assemble and gather themselves together against the United States, and did in a warlike, hostile and traitorous manner array and dispose themselves against the said United States of America, contrary to the duty of allegiance of fidelity of said Jefferson Davis and against the Constitution, peace, dignity, and Government of the said United States, and against the forms of the statute of the United States in such cases provided.

Death of a Rebel Exile—Suit for Heavy Damages—Enfranchisement of Women Appealed for.

NEW YORK, May 15.—General Pierre Gustave Toutont De Beauregard was reported at Baltimore yesterday on his way to New York, whence he would sail for Europe.

The death of ex-Gov. Henry Waller, formerly of Louisiana, and one of the voluntary exiles in Mexico, is reported.

John M. Way, of Roxbury, Massachusetts, has commenced suit for $20,000 damages against the leaders of an indignant crowd in that town, who, on hearing of the assassination of President Lincoln, had reason to take umbrage at Mr. Way's actions, and hustled him about considerably.

The Eleventh National Woman's Rights Convention, held in this city recently, adopted an appeal to the Congress of the United States for the enfranchisement of women.

Immense Fenian Demonstration—The O'Mahony Roberts Imbroglio Unhealed.

NEW YORK, May 15.—An immense body of men and women attended the Fenian demonstration at Jones' wood to-day. Still only the O'Mahony faction thus far acknowledge the organization of Stephens. Those called the Roberts men yet stand aloof. These men number thousands, and there is supposed to be but little prospect of a perfect union here, even upon the question of national sovereignty.

The examination of the treasury of the O'Mahony men, by direction of Stephens, says the Post, shows that only five hundred dollars remain, but by selling the lease of the Union Square headquarters, the sum of eleven thousand dollars could be obtained. There is a deficit of thirty thousand dollars which none of the men who ought to know the facts will explain.

Address of the President of the United States of Columbia.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The Cornica of this city, publishes the address from Gen. T. C. De Mosquera, the new President of the United States of Columbia, to the people of the Republic. The President strongly denounces the last insurrectionary movements, and gives assurance that he will protect every citizen in the enjoyment of his rights. Before sailing from Europe, President Mosquera concluded a treaty of friendship and commerce, and another relative to postal affairs, with England. He also arrived at an agreement with the Papal Government, concerning the administration of ecclesiastical affairs, which has long been a subject of dispute between the political and ecclesiastical authorities. According to this agreement, the Church will continue to be separated from the state.

From New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, May 15.—The steamer Sheridan arrived from New York.

Cotton stiffer, sales of 1,500 bales low middling at 33@34c. To-day's receipts—300 bales. Receipts for four days—3,316 bales, against 3,487 bales last week. Exports—385 bales. Stock—157,300 bales. Gold 129¼. Sterling, 41. New York Bank Checks ¾ premium.

The Episcopal delegates favor a choice from the Louisiana clergy. Leading men wish Dr. Hattan or Seabury. The office is considered very high.

The Supreme Court refuses to entertain the appeal from the decision against Confederate money loans and mortgages.

The river is falling. The floods have not reached the Opelousas Railroad. It is believed the Opelousas and Trehe country will be spared. Ouachita cotton reports are bad.

The Fenian Ovation at Jones' Woods—Speech by Stephens.

NEW YORK, May 15.—About six thousand persons were present at the Fenian demonstration at Jones' Woods. Stephens made a forcible address, giving the history of the Fenian movement. He said he had received but little money from this country, and the heart burnings and scandals here were such as could only be compensated by Irish liberation. They only wanted money. Ireland had done ten times as much in that way as America. If Great Britain had become engaged in a Danish war, it was their purpose to have them take arms.

Preparations for Reception of Mormon Emigrants—New York Excise Law Receipts.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Mr. Stenhouse, editor of the Salt Lake Telegraph, and Mr. Taylor, agent for Mormon Emigration, arrived here to-day from Utah to prepare for the reception of about 3,000 Mormons to arrive this summer.

The sum of $220,000 has been received for license under the new excise law up to one o'clock to-day.

Health of Jeff Davis.

FORTRESS MONROE, May 15.—It is understood that the Surgeon of the Post has complied with the instructions of President Johnson to furnish a special report upon the physical condition of Jefferson Davis. The nature of the report has not been made known, but there is reason to believe that it does not speak in very hopeful terms of his condition, and urges a less rigid system of confinement.

Fire at Salem, Mass.

SALEM, MASS., May 15.—A fire occurred here last night, which destroyed the Lynde block and the old Saltorall school house, together with several buildings. The East India Marine Hall building was also greatly damaged, but the valuable collection of curiosities was saved. Lynde block was owned by Francis Peabody. The loss of property is estimated at $75,000, mostly insured.

Nominations for Consul Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The Senate has confirmed the nomination of W. Calvin Brown, of New York, as Consul at Augsburg, and Frank Swan, of Ohio, as Consul at Naples.

Three Persons Burnt to Death.

MONTPELIER, VT., May 15.—The house of Lyman Burbank was burned last night. Two young ladies and Mr. Burbank were unable to escape, and were destroyed by the flames.

Liquor Bill Defeated.

BOSTON, May 15.—The bill to license and legalize liquor selling in Massachusetts, was defeated in the House to-day, by the large vote of 146 to 40.

Amusements.

THEATRE.—The theatre was crowded last evening from parquette to dome to witness Lord Byron's great poem, in three acts, entitled "Mazeppa" or the "Wild Horse of Tartar" as performed by the world-renowned equestrian actress, Miss Leo Hudson, who appeared as "Mazeppa." We but speak the universal sentiment of the theatre-going public when we say that Miss Hudson has no equal in this character at this day upon the American stage. In every respect she is equal to the difficult role before her, and never once flags or falters, but seems to be perfect "master of the situation" from the beginning of the play to its close. She was repeatedly applauded last evening. The play was well put upon the stage, and the minor parts creditably sustained. She will appear this evening in the same play. Leo Hudson matinee on Saturday afternoon.

OPERA HOUSE.—Another large audience greeted the witching little Emile Melville last night, at the Opera House, and judging from the enthusiasm created among her auditors, she made a decide hit.

To-night she appears in two of her best roles, and we hope and expect that the auditorium will be packed.

The New Gospel of Peace according to St. Benjamin. Book fourth and last. New York: The American News Company.

The quaint humor conspicuous in the former numbers of this series, is happily preserved in this closing one. Indeed, some of the final touches surpass in effect those that were earlier.

For sale by John P. Hunt.

Again Flowing.—The Phillips Well, in the Venango regions, the property of the Thompson and Commercial Oil Companies, a day or two since commenced flowing and is now yielding four hundred barrels of oil daily. All the other wells of this company, in the neighborhood of the Phillips, have increased their yield.

The Hay Crop.—We are informed by farmers that the recent frosts have materially injured the hay crop, which will, it is supposed, fall far behind, both in quantity and quality, the yield of last year.

CITY AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

(ADDITIONAL ON THIRD PAGE.)

The Soldiers' State Convention.

We would remind our readers of the fact that a convention of honorably discharged soldiers, belonging to the several Leagues throughout the commonwealth, will be held in this city, commencing on the 5th proximo. As yet our city League has not made any preparations for the event, and it behooves the members thereof to be up and doing. There will be a large assemblage of those who battled to crush the rebellion and restore the Union, and for the honor of our city it should be seen to that the visitors are properly received and entertained. We learn that the Philadelphia League design sending a delegation of fifteen hundred men, in the League uniform, and there will doubtless be large delegations from other parts. An effort will be made, we understand, to secure City Hall for the convention. At the next meeting of our League, required action will be taken, and then we shall be able to speak definitely as to the arrangements.

Habeas Corpus in the Common Pleas—Enlistment of Minors in the Regular Service.

Writs of habeas corpus made returnable yesterday before Judge Sterrett, were disposed of by that official. The first was issued on the application of Thomas McQuade, through counsel, George Christy, Esq. He claimed to be the uncle of Michael McQuade, a minor, (aged sixteen,) enlisted in the regular service of the United States, by Major A. L. Smith, recruiting officer. The enlisted party was present in court, and in reply to inquiries stated that he had enlisted voluntarily, that he was an orphan, his parents being dead, and that no guardian had been appointed for him. He also stated that he preferred remaining in the service. Judge Sterrett thereupon quashed the writ on the ground that the relator was not the guardian of the boy, and therefore had no legal right to the custody of his person. The youthful soldier was accordingly remanded to the custody of Maj. Smith.

Catherine Nagle, was the relator in the next case, setting forth in her petition that her son, Michael Nagle, aged fourteen, had been enlisted in the military service by Maj. Smith, without his parents' consent. It appeared by proof that the boy had forged his father's signature (or mark) to a consent to his enlistment, and had secured the signature of a comrade as subscribing witness, thus, seemingly, complying with the regulations of the army. Michael expressed his desire to remain in the service, and in answer to the question, put by the court, as to whether he would return home and obey his parents replied emphatically in the negative. Nevertheless, the enlistment was unlawful, and Judge Sterrett ordered that the boy be remanded to the custody of his father, Michael Nagle, Sr., upon the condition that he (the father) pay the respondent twelve dollars and fifty cents for subsistence and clothing issued to and retained by said minor.

George Christy, Esq., was counsel for the relator in both cases, and Major Smith appeared in his own behalf, as respondent.

District Court.

Hon. Moses Hampton presiding.

TUESDAY, May 15.—This court was occupied in the trial of the case of Perry Brown and others vs. Jake Hill and others—action for damages. The plaintiffs received a contract in 1863, from Messrs. Knap & Co., of the Fort Pitt Works, to transport a cargo of metal from Portsmouth, Ohio, to this city. The metal had been placed on board a barge and everything made ready for the shipment, but for some cause the departure of the barge was delayed. About this time the Fort Pitt Works were considerably embarrassed in consequence of the short supply of metal, and the defendants were directed to dispatch their tug-boat, the "Hawkeye," to bring up the metal in the barge owned by plaintiffs. In pursuance of these directions, alleged to have been given by a person not having authority, the defendants proceeded to Portsmouth, Ohio, took the barge in tow, and proceeded about one hundred and forty miles towards this city. At this point it was found that the boat could not tow the barge, and the metal was therefore reshipped on other barges, and in them delivered to the Fort Pitt Works. The barge belonging to the plaintiffs was sent back to Portsmouth and tied up. The plaintiffs claim that the barge was damaged to the amount of one thousand dollars, and that they suffered other damages in consequence of the trespass on the part of defendants, to the additional amount of one thousand dollars. They therefore bring the action to recover the aggregate amount, two thousand dollars. J. Barton, Esq., for plaintiffs, and A. M. Brown, Esq., for defendants. On trial.

An Old and Reliable House.

Among the staunch old business houses of the city, that of James Phelan, Dealer in Hosiery, No. 21 Fifth street, takes a prominent position. It was established many years ago, when the now great city of smoke was an insignificant, though promising town. "Daly's stocking store," a quaint old building, upon the site of which Mr. Phelan, a few years ago, erected his present beautiful iron front edifice, is among the earliest recollections of many old citizens. When first established the business was a novelty, as few cared about making hosiery a specialty; but Mr. Daly persevered until he had built up a remunerative trade, from the profits of which he was enabled to retire a number of years ago, in favor of his nephew, Mr. Phelan, the present proprietor. The store now drives a heavy and prosperous retail and jobbing business, almost entirely monopolizing the trade in hosiery, gloves, etc., of the city. The stock embraces all descriptions of hose, mitts, gloves, tights, yarns, silk and woolen under clothing, theatrical hosiery and equestrian goods. The goods are selected under the personal supervision of the proprietor, at cash prices, so that bargains of superior articles can be obtained at the cheapest of rates. A number of attentive salesmen are constantly in attendance, and with much pleasure we recommend country dealers and the city trade generally to favor Mr. Phelan with their patronage.

Court of Common Pleas.—Hon. E. H Stowe, presiding.

Tuesday, May 15.—In the case of Peter Mullen vs. the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, counsel for plaintiff, C. Magee, Esq., asked leave to amend the declaration, which was granted. The jury was then discharged, and the case continued till next term.

Merrick & Davis vs. Frank Houck, surviving partner of the firm of Frank & Benjamin Houck. Action to recover $630, alleged to be due the plaintiffs for cattle furnished the defendants, who were butchers. Verdict in favor of plaintiffs for $668.25. Colonel T. M. Bayne for plaintiffs, Thos. Howard Esq., for defendants.

Joseph M'Gibbony vs. Preston Burmaster. Action of ejectment for a small piece of land in Baldwin township. W. C. Moreland, Esq., for plaintiff, Robert Woods for defendant. On trial at adjournment.

United States Circuit Court.

Hon. Wilson McCandless presiding.

Tuesday, May 15.—This Court assembled at ten o'clock, and continued in session until three.

A jury was sworn to try the case of the Union Petroleum Company vs. George King and others—an action of ejectment for a tract of land adjoining the property of plaintiffs, in Venango county. It is a narrow strip, bounded by the McClintock and Buchanan farms, and is considered valuable as oil territory. Messrs. Lowrie and De Camp represent the plaintiffs, Hamilton & Achison, and C. Heydrie (of Venango) the defendants. The evidence in the case having been concluded at adjournment, the arguments will be made to the jury to-day.

Drugs by Wholesale.—In another column will be found the card of Messrs. McClelland and Company, wholesale and retail druggists, Allegheny. This house ranks among the most popular on that side of the river. They successfully compete with firms engaged in the same business in this city, and, through upright dealing and most reasonable of prices, have succeeded in building up a heavy business. They have on hand a large and fresh stock of drugs, dyes, paints, oils, varnishes, and everything usually kept in such establishments. Their store is upon the corner of Federal and Lacock streets, and we cheerfully recommend them to the trade.

Discharged from Custody.—Wilt Ripley, whose arrest for passing counterfeit national money we have noticed, was discharged from custody yesterday, it appearing to the satisfaction of U. S. Commissioner McCandless that there was not sufficient evidence of "guilty knowledge" to warrant his detention for trial. J. C. McCarthy, Esq., appeared as counsel for the accused.

Bank Note Reporter.—The old and reliable National Bank Note Reporter for May, published by Messrs. J. F. Bernard & Co., (late Feld & Lare) has been laid upon our table. It gives a correct report of the various financial failures of late, and contains carefully prepared lists of new counterfeits. The Reporter is invaluable to the handler of money.

Inquest Held.—Yesterday morning Coroner Clawson held an inquest on the body of Thomas Cain, the man who fell through the hatchway of the railroad depot, in South Pittsburgh, on Monday afternoon. He expired about two o'clock, having survived his injuries six hours. The jury found that his death was accidental.

Assault and Battery.—It appears that John Campbell and his wife Catharine do not live in a world of sunshine at all times, the latter having had the former arrested for assaulting her on four different occasions. The ungallant John was committed to jail to answer for his conduct at the next term of the Quarter Sessions.

Slowly but Surely.—The extensive alterations and improvements to the Monongahela House are progressing slowly but surely, without very material inconvenience to guests, the hotel continuing open as usual. When all things are complete it will be one of the most comfortable and best appointed hotels in the country.

U. S. District Court.—To-day was designated for the resumption of jury trials in the U. S. District Court.

Pittsburgh Locomotive and Car Works.

Our city has a world-wide reputation for being the first manufacturing community on this Continent. Here can be found the blackened walls of innumerable glass works, rolling mills, copper works, steel manufactures and divers other shops and factories contributing vastly to the end—which all our citizens should have in view—of making us independent of all our sister cities in manufacturing. One great blemish upon our fair fame for enterprise has been, that although we were the parent of the iron and steel business, we were compelled to send to the East for locomotives for our local railroads. This stain, however, is about to be removed from our escutcheon, and we are soon to be in possession of one of the most extensive locomotive works ever erected in this country. These works—which have almost reached completion and will be ready for occupancy early in August, are situated in the Borough of Manchester, running from the south side of Beaver street, to the bank of the Ohio river, a distance of two hundred and ninety feet, having a front of one hundred and twenty feet on Beaver street. The works consist of a machine shop, boiler yard, blacksmith shop and foundery, which are to be fitted up with every essential necessary to procure work—that in mechanical skill and finish will vie with any other establishment in existence. An idea of its immensity can be gleaned from the fact that they will be able to turn out, seventy-five locomotives a year. The cost of the building, machinery, &c., will be about $300,000. John A. Wright, of Philadelphia, is to be Resident Superintendent. The building of the engines, will be under the immediate personal supervision of Thatcher Perkins Esq., who has gained some celebrity as a practical and scientific locomotive builder, and who by the way is an urbane, clever gentleman, in the fullest sense of the word.

The Race Course.

Taking advantage of the fine spring weather, we paid a visit to Perrysville yesterday. On the road we took occasion to examine the prospect for fruit, and found an abundance of apples, cherries and pears. The peach crop will be slim. Some fields of wheat looked well, whilst others presented rather a ragged appearance. Arriving at Perrysville, we learned that the Park, located a short distance beyond the village, was to be formally opened at three o'clock in the afternoon, at which time there would be a trotting match, in harness, for a splendid set of harness, to be awarded to the fastest nag by the proprietor of the Park, Mr. Robert Jamison. The race track is half a mile round, and encircles an old orchard, in the centre of which there is a knoll, from which visitors can witness the animals all the way round. Three entries were made, viz: bay mare, by Barns; bay horse, by Peter McCormack; sorrel mare, by Jno. Connor. The race, which was mile heats, three best in five, was won by the bay mare in three straight heats. Time—3:15; 3:12½; 3:13. There were quite a number of Pittsburghers present, but, so far as we could see, but little money changed hands. There were other minor races which we did not stay to witness.

A Popular Sewing Machine.

Attention is directed to the advertisement in another column, of the justly popular Bartlett Sewing Machine. The simplicity of construction, durability and effectiveness, combined with the ease by which it is operated, renders this machine invaluable. The cost, in comparison to other more pretentious sewing machines, is trifling, and all that is asked by the agents, is a fair trial and comparison. Messrs. Emery and Howes are the wholesale agents for this neighborhood. Their office is located at No. 68 Fifth street, where they will be happy to exhibit and explain the desirable Bartlett sewing machine to all who may call.

Failed to Appreciate.

A man named Terrance McLaughlin came to the watch house last night about ten o'clock, and asked leave to sleep there for the night. His request was readily granted by the suave Captain of the watch, who in the kindness of his heart allowed him to occupy his office as a chamber. At eleven o'clock Terrance awoke after a short slumber which appeared to have the effect of souring his temper, inasmuch as he began to abuse the Captain, using the most profane and obscene language in the whole vocabulary. At length Terrance was given a cell all to himself as a reward of merit.

Bridge Being Torn Down.

We were glad to observe yesterday that the Mechanics street bridge, for a long time an unsightly structure, by reason of the damage it sustained during the freshet in the Spring of '65, is being torn down, preparatory to the erection of a new bridge. The workmen commenced at the Pittsburgh end, and the demolition has progressed as far as the first pier.

A ferry has been established, for the accommodation of those operatives and others, who were accustomed to cross the bridge. A boat commenced running yesterday.

Professional Business.—Our friend Chatham T. Ewing, Esq., Attorney, has removed his law office to No. 68 Grant street, where he will attend as usual to his professional duties. He is Commissioner for Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Missouri and other States, and will attend to this specialty with the same care and faithfulness as he does to all of his legal business. A ripe scholar, thoroughly read and schooled in the law, we can with the best grace commend Mr. Ewing to the public. Persons entrusting their claims or business to him may rest assured that their interests will not be neglected.

About five o'clock yesterday morning officer Bell found a man sleeping in the Fifth Ward Market House. On endeavoring to arouse him the officer discovered that he had been drinking to excess, and in fact was still so much under the influence of "the ardent" that he could not tell his own name. He was taken to a boarding house near by, where he was left to sober up. On his person was found a wallet containing $9.20, and a few papers, from which it was supposed that he hailed from Armstrong county.

Severe Measures Talked Of.—Citizens of Lower St. Clair township, have, for some time past, been seriously annoyed by depraved men and women loitering about their neighborhood. They are in the habit of kindling fires in the woods, by which serious damage has been sustained on several occasions. It is proposed by some of the residents to take the law in their own hands, and to deal summarily with the intruders. An organized effort will at least be made to apprehend them.

The Eagle Oil Works.—With pleasure we refer our readers to the card of Messrs. Wightman & Anderson, to be found in another column. The Eagle Oil Works, of which they are the proprietors, is one of the most extensive establishments of its kind in the west. Those who have done business with this firm will agree with us in saying that they are among the most clever, urbane and gentlemanly men in the oil business.

Lawyers Quarreling.—During the hearing of a case at the office of one of our city city Aldermen, yesterday, the attornies indulged in severe personal language, culminating, almost, in a "knock down." One struck the other a smart blow in the face, and both were about to do the pugilistic in their best style, when some persons present interfered, thus preventing black eyes, bloody noses, &c.

To be Obstructed.—The Chief Engineer, Mr. H. A. Gardiner, who is superintending the conversion of the wooden bridge of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, over the Allegheny, into an iron one, has given notice that the channel of the river will be obstructed until the completion of the work. The first of June is given as the date at which the obstruction will commence.

Another.—J. Turley was yesterday arraigned before Alderman Morrow, on a charge of having wantonly obstructed Arthur street, in the Seventh Ward. The prosecutor was Street Commissioner Flinn, who seems to never tire of hauling up violators of City ordinances. After paying the costs and promising to remove the obstruction Turley was allowed to go in peace.

Riotous.—A man named Thomas McCoy has been in the habit of visiting the house of Mrs. Peterson on Etna street in the Fifth ward, and acting in a very riotous and disorderly manner. McCoy was arrested yesterday at the instance of Mrs. Peterson, and brought before Alderman Taylor, who caused the defendant to enter bail in the sum of $300 to keep the peace.

Withdrawn.—The charge of malicious mischief preferred before Alderman Taylor, by Robert Lockhart, against James Reynolds, John Federline and Matthew Hughes—small boys, eldest eleven years old—has been withdrawn, a sound drubbing at the hands of their respective parents being considered adequate punishment for their offense.

Slight Fire.—Last night, about half-past eleven o'clock, a slight fire occurred in the dressing room attached to Lafayette Hall. The firemen were promptly on the ground, but the flames were fortunately extinguished without their assistance being necessary.

Discharged.—Patrick Duffy, who was accused of having passed a five dollar counterfeit note—knowing it to be such—had a hearing yesterday, before Alderman Humbert, and was discharged. The evidence was not sufficient to warrant the prosecution.

Attempt to Escape.—Three of the Cadiz bank robbers, while being conveyed to the Ohio Penitentiary by the Deputy Sheriff, on Thursday last, tried to make their escape by jumping from the cars while in motion but were caught.

Sunday Selling.—Rosana Haney, residing in the Seventh ward, was accused by Matilda Kimberly, before Alderman Strain, yesterday, of vending spirituous liquors on Sunday. She gave bail for a hearing to-day at ten o'clock.

Committed.—Alex. Wilson, the man who stole the horse and buggy from the theatre door a few evenings since, was lodged in the county jail last evening to await trial, in default of $1,000 bail.

Surgeon Dead.—Dr. J. T. Adair, who served in the Union army during the rebellion, as a surgeon, died on the 5th inst., in Indiana county, of consumption. He had but recently returned from Texas.

Sent to Jail.—Robert White, a resident of Collins township, was lodged in jail yesterday for refusing to pay the bounty tax, the levying of which he declared to be an outrage.

Mayor's Office.—Yesterday morning seven "cases" were disposed of at Mayor McCarthy's court—four going to jail and the remainder Banking House Suspension.

Considerable excitement was occasioned yesterday, in financial circles, upon the announcement that Kramer and Rahn the well known bankers on Fifth street, had closed their doors. Upon making inquiry we ascertained that the suspension was merely temporaly, or until such time as the true financial condition of Work, McCouch and Co. of Philadelphia is ascertained. In the latter firm, some of the members of the Pittsburgh house were partners, and hence the embarrassment. Messrs. Kramer and Rahn have at all times enjoyed the confidence of the entire community which has not been disturbed by the present state of affairs. A few days hence, we sincerely trust, will see all matters righted and the firm again at business. The sympathy of all is with them, particularly with the senior member of the firm, whose name is synonymous with all that is charitable, good and philanthropic.

Commission Merchants.—The card of Messrs. Brewer, Barke & Co., Commission Merchants and Agents for the Pacific, Globe and Liberty Oil Works, appears in another column. The mercantile community are sufficiently acquainted with this firm, as they have long been engaged in that particular business. They have ample facilities for the storage of crude and refined oils, upon consignments of which, they make liberal cash advances. Business entrusted to them will be carefully and judiciously attended to. The office and warehouse is upon the corner of Duquesne Way and Hancock street. Their storage yard is in Lawrenceville.

Paid the Penalty.—Yesterday Street Commissioner Flinn had Patrick McAnnally arrested for a violation of a city ordinance. McAnnally, who is the proprietor of a bread wagon, had occasion to drive along Second street, which is now undergoing repairs. At the corner of Ross and Second, some bars had been erected for the purpose of excluding vehicles from passing over that part of the street which is being repaired. These bars McAnnally removed and drove over the newly paved portion of the street, much to the detriment of the workmen engaged on the repairs, for which offence he was fined the sum of five dollars and costs.

Oil Brokers.—Among the many oil brokers and dealers in this city, none stand more deservedly high than the well known and prosperous firm of Messrs. Warden and Batchelder, corner of Hancock street and Duquesne way. They deal extensively in crude and refined petroleum, whale oil, resin, turpentine, tar, &c., and from the thorough business experience of both members of the firm, they do a very heavy business. They represent W. G. Warden, 113 Walnut street, Philadelphia. Their card will be found in another column.

False Pretence.—Yesterday an information was made before Alderman Strain, by a man named Charles Morrison, against John Owens, for having obtained money from the prosecutor under false pretences. The offense consisted in Owens' having sold a horse to the prosecutor for the sum of $130, representing it to be a good quiet animal, which is alleged to be false. Owens was admitted to bail in the sum of $500 for his appearance at court.

Street Cars Delayed.—Yesterday, about noon, the horses attached to one of the cars on the Pittsburgh and Manchester Passenger Railway took fright, and dashed up Federal street at a dangerous rate of speed, until they reached the crossing of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad, where they stopped still, refusing to move a step for over an hour, thereby causing several cars to be delayed from making their trips in time.

A New Train.—No railroad in the country has such perfect facilities for accommodating the traveling public as the Pennsylvania Central. Their enterprise is commendable, and it would be well if we had a few more routes like their's. On Monday week a new train will be placed on this road. It will leave Philadelphia at 10 o'clock a. m., pass Lancaster at 12.20; reach Harrisburg about 1.30, and arrive in this city about mid-night.

Case Dismissed.—Hugh Meehan, charged before Alderman Strain with malicious mischief, was yesterday discharged from custody no evidence being adduced to sustain the charge.

The suit of R. Monroe against William Adams for larceny by bailee, was also dismissed.

Felonious Assault and Battery.—John Scall, who it will be remembered struck a man named Chas. Williams with a paving stone on the head at the Monongahela wharf, some few months since, was arrested yesterday and brought before Alderman Humbert, who held him in the sum of $1,000 to answer at court.

Found Guilty.—Conrad Everhardt and Joseph Loffuk had a hearing yesterday before Alderman Humbert, on the charge of selling liquor on Sunday. They were both found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs, which they did and were discharged.

EDUCATION OF LABORERS.

So long as a large majority of the laboring people of the South were held in slavery, labor was necessarily esteemed degrading, and it was fashionable for the dominant caste to maintain that the nearer the toiling millions were reduced to the condition of brute beasts the better for them and for their superiors. Much was said and written in a vein of pseudo humanitarianism, of the advantages of ignorance to men and women who had to work. It blunted their susceptibilities, and so made their hard lot more endurable. Nor was any discrimination made between white and black laborers. Indeed, for several years before the rebellion flamed out it was stoutly maintained by many leaders of Southern opinion, that all laborers, no matter what their complexions, ought to be reduced to bondage, for their own good and for the general welfare.

It was not to be expected that with the overthrow of Slavery all these ideas and sentiments would at once vanish from the heads and hearts of the persons who cherished them. Radical transformations in the thoughts and feelings of a single individual do not spring up in a day; much less in large masses of people. Mental and moral changes, on a broad scale, are of slow development. It is not wonderful, therefore, that all Southern people have not yet come to appreciate the good there is in the widest possible diffusion of education.

The Paducah (Ky.) Herald does not like the suggestion of a Mississippi contemporary that it is a measure of public utility to educate as speedily as possible the illiterate freedmen. It objects because an amount of education that "will make the freedmen intellectually cultivated members of the community" would require the expenditure of millions of dollars for schools and colleges, besides the loss of time taken from labor and devoted to learning. That sounds like a rumble of the dark ages; and so it is. But still another objection is urged; which is, that to spend so much for the education of the blacks would be to treat them better than the poor whites. Alas! there is no use of blaming the blind because they do not see; but it is plain enough that this disparity could and ought to be remedied by educating the laboring whites. It is not proposed to educate the emancipated bondmen because they are blacks, but because they are human beings. This the Herald does not see; for it goes on to say, "teaching them to read and write will do them no good;" for the status of a negro "is simply that of a laborer and a drudge." Having thus reduced the negro to the level of white laborers, the Herald urges the impolicy of teaching any laborers to read and write. It says:

"To talk about educating this drudge, is to talk without thinking. Either to 'educate' or to teach him merely to read and write, is to ruin him as a laborer. Thousands of them have already been almost ruined by it. They have, during the past few years, been taught to 'read,' and they think they possess all the wisdom of the world. Their new-grown ability to spell out a few sentences in the spelling book or in a newspaper, has given them notions very far above plowing and digging. It has made them scholars, politicians, statesmen, 'gentlemen,' and confirmed them generally as lazy vagabonds and thorough scoundrels. It has made them insolent beyond any laboring population in the world, and a thousand fold more idle and insubordinate.

"Europe has not so managed her laborers, and there cannot be found in the whole extent of old Europe a class of white laborers who assume half the airs of the negroes of America. Who ever heard of a French or English laborer calling himself 'gentleman?'

"England provides work for her laborers, and furnishes them, by means of her churches, with moral and religious training. She does not give them wages enough for 'education,' for dressing in fine clothes, and to set up as 'gentlemen.'

"We must learn wisdom from old mother England in this respect. Give the negroes work, and moral and religious culture, and it is all that any laborers require, and all that any country can afford to give. If you go beyond this you destroy the laborer. Whenever the negro in this country reaches beyond this, and ceases to be a laborer, he will become a nuisance, and will be hustled out of the country. He is only valuable to the country as a druge. When he ceases to be that he is an incumbrance.

"Kentucky has taken some incipient foolish steps on this subject. We hope the Democratic party will have sense enough to repeal all such laws, and hereafter view and act for the negro for exactly what he is—laborer."

Not a few Southern people have already obtained deliverance from the dominion of these absurd prejudices. In time the adorers of mental darkness in the Southern States as in the Northern will come to see the folly of their course.

WHERE WE STAND.

We do not hold it to be among the cardinal virtues to stand by a party, "right or wrong." Herein we differ from some of our cotemporaries. But it so happens that on the question of Reconstruction we are fairly within the party lines, and those who dissent from our position are outside. Let us appeal to the record. The last Republican State Convention, after carefully considering the whole matter, laid this plank in its Platform of Doctrine:

"Resolved, That the work of restoring the late insurrectionary States to their proper relations to the Union, necessarily devolves upon the law-making power, and that until such action shall be taken, no State lately in insurrection, is entitled to representation in either branch of Congress; that as primary to such action is the right of Congress to investigate for itself the condition of the legislation of these States, to inquire respecting their loyalty, and to prescribe the terms of restoration, and that to deny this necessary constitutional power is to deny and imperil one of the dearest rights belonging to our representative form of government, and that we cordially approve of the action of the Union representatives from Pennsylvania on this subject."

That was our position before the Convention assembled. It is our position now. On this point we have no hesitation in affirming the Convention reflected the ideas and will of nine-tenths at least of the Republicans of Pennsylvania. Those journals and individuals who dissent from this doctrine are disorganizers; not we.

MY POLICY.

A Washington special telegram to the New York Tribune, makes this disclosure of the presidential policy:

"Without the authority of law President Johnson, among his earliest acts of reconstruction, ordered the sale of Government railroads and railroad running stock, iron and materials to an enormous amount to Southern men, on credit; he directed the Quartermaster in charge to turn over the property, and take the purchasers' notes, payable monthly, up to two years; the value of the property thus nominally sold, but in reality given away, was probably $200,000,000. Of course the notes, as they fell due, were not paid, and it was never intended they should be paid. They are under protest here to millions. The Government holds chattel mortgages on property, all in Rebel hands, that has been consumed in large part; in part has changed hands; and the balance of which is used in defiant disregard of the contract of purchase. The President refuses to permit proceedings to compel payment, or to recover possession of any portion of this immense amount of the public property."

No man of sense can doubt as to the meaning of this. Conservatism must have a prodigious development in the individual who can swallow "My Policy" with such appendages.

THE CHARGE of Judge Underwood to the jury that indicted Jefferson Davis, has brought out all the reconstructed newspapers of Virginia, in furious vituperation upon him. The Petersburg Index says:

We have tried to do justice to the absurd, blasphemous, cowardly, devilish, empirical, fanatical, ghoulish, horrible, ignorant, jacobinical, knavish, lilly-livered, maudlin, nondescript, odious, poisonous, querulous, rascally, sycophantic, traitorous, unrighteous, venal, witless, extravagant, yankeeish zero whose 'charge' we publish to-day; but we despair. The truth is we are not equal to the occasion.

The Richmond Whig, of Saturday last, says:

If, in the person of Underwood, the Judicial office has at last (and for the first time) been disgraced in Virginia, our people will take no shame to themselves—for neither is he a Virginian, nor does he hold his office by authority or consent of the people of Virginia. A vagabond from some Yankee State, and the appointee of a power which was doing at the time all it could to crush the people of this State, and chose him as an instrument useful to that end, his history will cast no blot on the stainless ermine of the State whose soil upheld the birth-place, and now inurns the ashes of Marshall.

These may be taken as specimens of that loyalty which it is the tendency of the President's Policy to develop.

THE World has a Washington special to this effect:

"There are some twenty thousand postmasters in the United States, of whom but eight or nine hundred require confirmation by the Senate. There are to be vigorous removals among the rest who are denouncing the administration. Their dismissals are being made out at the Postoffice Department."

From this, and other intimations of like character, it is evident the Postmaster General intends to make a vigorous abuse of the authority vested in him by Congress, in removing from the lesser postoffices most of the incumbents. In common decency, however, the country might be spared this display of false pretences, which misleads no one. These postmasters are not to be removed because they "are denouncing the Administration." They are doing no such thing. They are to be removed because they do not join the President in denouncing the Republican members of Congress as traitors.

Private Life of the President.

We are informed by the Courrier des Etats Unis, of New York, that an intimate friend of President Johnson, who has known him for many years, and who has followed him from Tennessee to Washington, has communicated to a journal of the West some interesting details respecting his domestic life. What journal it is which has enjoyed the advantage of receiving this valuable information is not stated by our French contemporary, and we are, therefore, compelled to lay the facts before our readers with such danger of inaccuracy as results from the process of translating back from the French what was first written in English. But as the Courrier is not only an original and consistent supporter of the rebellion, but also, of late, a zealous friend of the President and his policy, we have little fear as respects the substantial accuracy of the important report we now proceed to reproduce.

From October 1st to April 1st, Mr. Johnson gets out of bed at 7 o'clock in the morning, no matter at what hour he may have retired the night before. From April 1st to October 1st; he gets up at 6 o'clock. He never looks at the clock, but settles his mind as to the time of day by means of a fat silver watch, or, as he calls it, an onion; which he carried when he was still a tailor, and which always hangs at his bedside. The first garment which Mr. J. puts on in the morning—so his intimate frend testifies, is a pair of flannel drawers, after which he puts on his socks, which are generally of grey yarn, then his slippers and a pair of fustian pantaloons. Whether he also puts on a dressing gown, or in what manner his neck and manly chest are protected, we are not informed. However that may be, he now goes into the bath room, where he shaves and performs his ablutions, fasting generally about half an hour. He takes extreme care of his teeth, which are very handsome, and of his finger nails, which though short, are rose colored, and are cut pointed.

Having got on his clothes and pared his rose colored nails, the President retires to his private apartment, where he reads the newspapers and "writes those remarkable messages which he communicates from time to time to his friends, the Radicals." There he remains till 10 o'clock, with no company except a coffee pot, holding a gallon, which he drinks in great swallows without sugar, and "a big black cat, the favorite of its master, which always sits gravely on the desk, at the left of the inkstand." From 10 to 11 o'clock visitors are received. At 11 Mr. Johnson breakfasts with his family. "An egg, boiled potato, a sardine and a few peanuts constitute his whole repast." Whether the peanuts are devored raw or roasted the intimate friend fails to tell us; but he says that during this frugal repast "the President is very gay, and does not allow anybody but himself to talk." At noon precisely the table is abandoned for the Cabinet meeting, or for the reception of delegations. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon Mr. Johnson goes out to walk, either in the grounds of the White House or the streets of Washington. He has a rapid gait, which is more like a trot than a walk, and there are few persons whom he would not leave behind in a foot race. "He has a corn on the little toe of the left foot, which causes him much agony, but the painful results of this infirmity are palliated by his wearing on that foot a larger boot than on the other. He always smokes as he walks; but "since he has been President he has not permitted himself to chew." Such is his delicate sense of the proprieties of his high station.

At 4 o'clock he comes in to dinner. This is the hearty meal of the day, and in order to get up his appetite the president drinks a stout glass of whisky beforehand. He spends the same length of time at dinner as at breakfast, but with an interesting difference. As we have seen, in the morning he monopolizes the conversation; in the afternoon his familiars recount to him the incidents and rumors of the day, the sayings and doings of Congress, and so forth. He eats little meat, especially pork, since the invasion of the trichinae, "but he adores crabs, professes a high esteem for fried oysters, and is animated with an irresistible passion for rice pudding." He eats more bread than most Americans, and "in summer he stuffs himself with corn and water cresses, which he considers to be favorable to the renovation of the blood." At 5 o'clock the dinner is ended with a few glasses of port and sherry, and "a great bowl of black coffee, which he imbibes almost at a single swallow."

Now he returns to his private room, where he reads the newspapers and his favorite books. The authors he prefers are Plutarch, Mr. Punch, Robinson Crusoe, the Arabian Nights, and Young's Night Thoughts. At 8 o'clock he takes tea, and at 9 goes back to work again, when he generally makes himself comfortable in his shirt sleeves. The coffee pot is now brought in once more, and at midnight, when the President usually goes to bed, it is always empty. His sleep is peaceful, and, as he himself says, he never dreams, "which is the sign both of good health and a good conscience." His friend also declares that he has never been heard to snore, and that "an angelic smile now and then wanders over his lips, while Morpheus closes his eyes and pours upon him his restoring balm."—Chicago Republican.

SINCE the arrival of Mr. James Stephens, on Thursday last, quite a change has passed over Fenianism. He, as "President" of the Irish Republic, has assumed entire control of affairs. He wears the air of a father governing a family of rather obstreperous children, or of a teacher laying down the law of good conduct to a rather perverse generation of pupils, and his rebukes are received with all humility by those to whom they are administered.

THE NEW
Spring and Summer Medicine.
FLUID EXTRACT
SARSAPARILLA,
COMBINED WITH
Iodide of Lime,
PREPARED FOR
G. W. PETTES, BOSTON,
BY
James R. Nichols & Co.,
MANUFACTURING CHEMISTS,
MANUFACTURERS OF THE
ELIXIR PERUVIAN BARK
WITH Protoxide of Iron,
Which has become so favorably known as a
Tonic and Restorative,
By Physicians and Invalids in all parts of the country.

The new preparation, "SARSAPARILLA IN COMBINATION WITH IODIDE OF LIME," presents one of the most prompt alterative agents, in a form capable of exerting full action upon the system, and this in minute and pleasant doses. It is conceded that the alterative, resolvent, or tonic effects of Iodine, are exerted most decidedly when associated with other alteratives, in combination; and the Sarsaparilla seems to fulfil perfectly all the favorable requisitions.

The first effect usually observed when "SARSAPARILLA WITH IODIDE OF LIME" is taken, is an increase of appetite, showing that it has tonic properties of a marked character. Its alterative effects are manifest in its ready combination with the blood and tissues. Hale, scrofulous women and children improve rapidly under its use, and the vital functions assume a healthy condition.

It is admirably adapted to a large number of chronic or acute affections peculiar to children. It is suited to them, both by the mildness and efficiency of Medicinal effect and the pleasant, attractive form of the remedy. It may be given for a long period where constitutional influences are desired, and no repugnance, or disinclination to take the syrup, encountered. In White-Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, and Distortions of the Spine, it should be given persistently, in moderate doses, until relief is obtained.

The accumulation of morbid matters in the system seems to become manifest and very troublesome. Lassitude, Headache, Boils, Costiveness, Loss of Appetite, Pains in the Joints, Indigestion, etc., are very common. Nothing ever devised is better adapted to exterminate or drive off these affections than this new combination of SARSAPARILLA WITH IODIDE OF LIME.

No preparation like it, or which approximates to it, as an

has ever before been placed within the reach of invalids. Indeed, it is an entirely NEW and SCIENTIFIC combination, in no respect resembling anything hitherto employed.

The opinion of medical men concerning it, the description of its chemical character, therapeutic value, manner of use, etc., are given in a circular, which can be had at the store of any and all first-class Druggists.

For sale in Pittsburgh by all Druggists.

IN THE ORPHANS' COURT OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY, No. 149, March Term, 1866.

May 5, 1866, the petition of Polly Doughty, widow of Jesse Doughty, deceased, late of Elizabeth Borough, said county, was presented to the Court, setting forth that said decedent died July 17th, 1852, having first made his last will and testament, wherein and whereby he devised all his real and personal estate to petitioner during her natural life, and after her decease to be divided equally between decedent's brother, Lewis M. Doughty, and his sister, Hester Ann now the wife of William Collier; that by a codicil to said will the testator directed that if there should not be sufficient income from his estate to support the petitioner, he empowered his executor to sell and convey any part of his real estate for her use and support; that said testator appointed Henry E. Kern executor of his said will, but that said executor declined to serve, and Letters of Administration, with the will annexed, were issued to Dr. John E. Shaffer, of said Borough of Elizabeth; that decedent owned at the time of his death three lots of ground situate in said borough, one of which lots was sold and conveyed to Samuel McCune 22d October, 1864, for the sum of $465, as by proceedings in Orphans' Court, at No. 138, June Term, 1864, does appear; that the personal estate of said testator has been exhausted for the support of petitioner, and also the proceeds of the sale of said lot, and praying the Court to grant an order directed to the said John E. Shaffer, Administrator de bonis non, or other competent person, for the sale of the remaining part of said real estate, being the first two described lots of ground in this petition, for the support of petitioner, according to the direction of the said last will and testament, and showing that said Lewis M. Doughty lives at Waterloo, Lawrence county, Ohio, and that Hester Ann Collier lives at Portsmouth, Sciota county, Ohio, whereupon the Court made the following order:

And now, May 5, 1866, petition being presented and duly considered in open court, the court award a citation to issue to said Dr. John E. Shaffer, Lewis M. Doughty, William Collier and Hester Ann, his wife, requiring them to be and appear in court on SATURDAY, the 26th day of May, inst., at 10 o'clock, A. M., to answer the prayer of the petitioners, when the same will be granted unless cause be shown to the contrary, and the court direct that notice be given to the parties residing out of the County of Allegheny, by publication in the PITTSBURGH GAZETTE three times at least ten days before the return day, and that one copy of said paper containing said notice be sent by mail, addressed to each of said parties. BY THE COURT.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ AYER'S PILLS—Are you Sick, feeble and complaining? Are you out of order with your system deranged and your feelings uncomfortable? These symptoms are often the prelude to serious illness. Some fit of sickness is creeping upon you, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Ayer's Pills, and cleanse out the disordered humors—purify the blood, and let the fluids move on unobstructed in health again. They stimulate the functions of the body into vigorous activity, purify the system from the obstructions which make disease. A cold settles somewhere in the body, and deranges its natural functions. These, if not relieved, react upon themselves and the surrounding organs, producing general aggravation, suffering and derangement. While in this condition, take Ayer's Pills, and see how directly they restore the natural action of the system, and with it the buoyant feeling of health again. What is true and so apparent in this trivial and common complaint is also true in many of the deep seated and dangerous distempers. The same purgative effect expels them. Caused by similar obstructions and derangement of the natural functions of the body, they are rapidly and many of them surely cured by the same means. None who know the virtue of these Pills will neglect to employ them when suffering from the disorders they cure, such as Headache, Foul Stomach, Dysentery, Bilious Complaints, Indigestion, Derangement of the Liver, Costiveness, Constipation, Heartburn, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Worms and Suppression, when taken in large doses.

They are Sugar Coated, so that the most sensitive can take them easily, and they are surely the best purgative medicine yet discovered.

AYER'S AGUE CURE,

For the speedy cure of Intermittent Fever, or Fever and Ague Remittent Fever Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache or Bilious Headache, and Bilious Fevers, indeed for the whole class of diseases originating in biliary derangement, caused by the Malaria of miasmatic countries.

This remedy has rarely failed to cure the severest cases of Chills and Fever, and it has this great advantage over other Ague medicines, that it subdues the complaint without injury to the patient. It contains no quinine or other deleterious substance, nor does it produce quinism or any injurious effect whatever. Shaking brothers of the army and the west, try it and you will endorse these assertions.

The Cholera and its Treatment—Important Suggestions.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—As it seems more than probable that we shall be visited by the cholera, during the present summer, everything relating thereto must of necessity be of interest, not only to medical men, but to the public generally, as we all may be sufferers thereby. Such being the case, I propose to examine some of the many receipts that are presented to the public by the newspapers of the day for the cure of this much dreaded disease. And although the subject is, strictly speaking, a medical one, and the discussion of it might with some propriety be confined to the medical journals, yet, as it is receiving such prominence by the public journals, it may probably be more for the general good to leave out all technicalities in its discussion, and by a free interchange of thought and opinion, through journals that reach the fireside of all the thinking part of the community, we may possibly be able to so prepare ourselves that the visit may be as nearly harmless as possible.

A few days ago I saw a receipt, given by the Rev. D. Hamlin, missionary at Constantinople, which it is said cured all cases that were taken in time. The receipt consisted of laudanum, camphor and tincture of rhubarb. Now, I for one cannot place any confidence in such wholesale assertions.

I have been practicing medicine for the last ten years, and I think I ought to know something about the treatment of disease, but I must confess that I know of no receipt, or prescription, or any combination of medicines whatever, that will cure all cases of any disease, even if taken in time. I do not think I alone hold this opinion, on the contrary I believe that there is not a medical man in the country, no, not even an intelligent layman, but that knows what will cure one person, will not, in all cases, cure others, even of the same disease.

Another certain cure for cholera is equal parts of laudanum and champhor, omitting the rhubarb, as recommended by Rev. Hamlin.

Another still is brandy and Cayenne pepper, and many others that it would be tiresome even to read the names of them, each and all advocating medicines that are similar in their effects on the human organism, viz: astringents and stimulants. But now it does appear that the world of medicine does move, and we are to have a change, for we have been woefully wrong in the treatment of cholera by stimulants and astringents.

Dr. Urie, of Edenburg, says there never was a greater error committed than that of giving Cayenne pepper, mustard, camphor, brandy, salt, &c., in cholera.

These stimulants have been employed from time immemorial among all nations, and yet thousands upon thousands die at every visitation of the epidemic. That, I should think, would bear pretty hard on the stimulating part of the treatment, coming as it does from a gentleman of the standing that Dr. Ure occupies. We have now got a new champion of the astringent treatment, and one who has either considerable confidence in his own treatment or very little in the treatment of others, for he says: "By this treatment, viz., injection of kino, opium and starch, I will pledge all that I am worth that I can cure more cases of cholera than all other systems of medicine combined can possibly effect." Vide the New York Herald.

The assertions of this writer would have been entitled to some consideration, if there had been any practical applications of his method, and the applications had proved successful; as it is, it is only his theory—and there is considerable difference between theory and practice—and we shall have to let it go for whatever it may be worth. In opposition to the astringent treatment, we find that during the year 1854, when London was visited by the cholera, Dr. George Johnson was then, and is now, physician to King's College Hospital, and he treated his patients with Castor Oil, and they got well, and not only so, but he cured a greater per centage of cases by using the oil than by the ordinary method of treatment.

You thus perceive that we have apparently new light in medicine, viz: The treatment of Cholera by Laxatives, instead of Stimulents and Astringents. I said apparently a new light, for it is well known to a very great portion of the community, and may be known by all who choose to enquire for themselves, that by the school of medicine to which I belong, it is the rule to treat, not only cholera, but all kindred diseases of the bowels, by Laxatives, and not by Stimulents and Astringents, that is now so severely condemned by the old school system of medicine. I might go on and examine the various systems of medical treatment, with the success attending each in former visits of the cholera, but I do not wish to get up a controversy on medical subjects, not that I have any fear of the result, but that I think a newspaper is not the proper place for such discussions.

With regard to the cholera nostrums that we see in nearly all the newspapers time and again, the less we can say about them the better it will be for the community. Can any person believe that by taking any of these nostrums, that are so vauntingly put forth by interested parties, that he can cure himself, or any of his friends, if they chance to be attacked with the disease, when physicians of acknowledged ability, and of rare scientific attainments, find use for all their knowledge of the human system, all their knowledge of medicine, and its relation to disease, to be able to treat with any degree of success that terrible scourge, that we denominate Cholera. I claim that human life is of too much value to be trifled with in such a manner. And if a person is attacked with the disease, it is his duty to himself, to his friends, as well as to the public at large, to prevent, as far as possible, the spreading of the disease, by employing the best medical skill he can command, of whatever school of medicine he may be in favor of.

In conclusion I would say that by a proper regard to the following simple rules a great many cases of cholera may be prevented:

First, Keep yourself and surroundings scrupulously clean.

Second, Make no sudden changes either in your clothing, diet, or habits.

Third, Drink no intoxicating liquors.

Fourth, Do not stay out late at night.

Fifth, Eat no fruit of any kind.

Sixth, Eat no vegitables unless they are fresh, and then but sparingly.

Seventh, Use a good proportion of fresh beef, mutton, or fowl, and, if it agrees with the stomach, soup made from one of these meats.

Eighth, Eat with moderation, take care not to overload the stomach with any kind of food.

Ninth, Do not be afraid that you will have the cholera.

Tenth, Avoid taking cold or becoming chilled.

Eleventh, Keep your room well ventilated, but in such a manner as not to expose yourself to currents of air when sitting still.

Twelfth, Do not stay in rooms that are crowded with people.

Thirteenth, Do not sleep in basements, or with many persons in the same room.

Finally, endeavor to encourage good temper, hope and cheerfulness in yourself and others, and as "cleanliness is next to Godliness" I would say, trust in God, but do not be afraid of soap.

"The Stars and Stripes"

Floated proudly from the bow, star-board, larboard, and stern of the steamers "Fayette" and "Chieftain," at the Brownsville landing yesterday. These boats are now running opposition, and the competition is quite brisk. There is no racing between locks, the practice being deprecated by both commanders, so that passengers need entertain no fears on this score. We observed a piano being taken aboard the "Chieftain," and infer, therefore, that some of the fair ones who travel the slackwater will find opportunity to develope their musical talent, and thus while away the hours of a trip from some of the river towns. Captain Cox, (who by the way, is one of the most accomplished, polite, and gentlemanly steamboatmen of our acquaintance,) said that there was "nothing like it," and presumed that the "Fayette" would also have to get a Piano. An old gentleman, speaking of the matter, at dinner, in the magnificent cabin of the "Fayette," said that in his young days Pianos were scarce, but spinning wheels plenty, and that the young lady who could spin the greatest number of "cuts" in a day was as popular as one who brought the sweetest music from the "keys" now-a-days. This ancient individual is one of the primitive kind, and delights on all occasions to speak of the days when he was young.

Second Street Park.

The trees surrounding the vacant space on Second street, between Grant and Ross, formerly known as the "Scotch Hill Market," and latterly dignified by the name of Park, have met with a little attention at the hands of somebody, recently. The trees present a sorry aspect as to regularity, owing to neglect and bad taste in selection, and we cannot see that the recent effort at improvement will be of any avail. Some of them have outgrown the boxes, and assumed an unseemly shape. What is everybody's business is nobody's, and it is apparent that the effort of a few enterprising individuals, a few years since, to secure at least the semblance of a Park, as an oasis in our desert of smoke and suit, will prove abortive.

No Pay, No Work.

The Legislature, at its last session, it will be remembered, passed an act requiring magistrates and constables to make monthly returns, the former of informations against parties for selling liquor without license, and the latter of all persons engaged in selling liquor in their respective districts. A speck of difficulty has arisen in consequence of Mr. Lambert, the County Controller, refusing to allow compensation for the making of such returns, and the magistrates and constables decline to perform the extra duty imposed without being paid for the same. Doubtless the new law fails to provide for compensation, and hence the action of the Controller, than whom we have no more faithful and conscienscious officer of the county.

Annoying Blunder.—The compositor made us say, in our report of the meeting of the Firemen's Association, in yesterday's Gazette, that the persons having charge of the fund for the relief of disabled firemen were disposed to appropriate it towards preventing the erection of the Fire Alarm Telegraph in this city. We wrote just the reverse, it being the design of the gentlemen to encourage the project. It so happened that we did not read the proof of the latter portion of the proceedings.

Habeas Corpus Postponed.—We noticed yesterday the fact that Colonel McClowry, in the United States Circuit Court, moved for the discharge of John Cosgrave, an alleged minor, recently enlisted in the regular military service by Captain A. L. Smith, recruiting officer at this station. The writ of habeas corpus was made returnable yesterday at ten o'clock, but as the counsel was not ready to proceed, the hearing was deferred until this morning.

LETTER FROM ANAWAN.

Bird's Eye View of the Allegheny Mountains—Another Storm—Panic and Stampede in the Catholic Church in Loretta—Hollidaysburg, Altoona, Ebensburg and Johnstown—Heavy Frost, &c., &c.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., May 14, 1866.

It would seem that it is my fate to visit the Allegheny mountains at the time the elements are holding a carnival. About six weeks ago, in a letter from this place, I gave you the details of a tornado that passed over this place, and now I am called upon to detail a similar occurrence. I will, however, make a brief mention of what I saw and heard on my trip in the proper order, commencing at Hollidaysburg. I found that place improving much faster than I had anticipated. Many people think, and in fact I did myself, that since the Pennsylvania Central was finished, Hollidaysburg has remained statu quo. This is not the case. The Blair Iron and Coal Co., a branch of the Cambria Iron Co., of this place, have a hot blast furnace there, making one hundred tons of iron per week. The Juniata Iron Company are putting up an immense rolling mill on the site of the one that was burnt down about a year ago, where they contemplate making all kinds of iron. B. M. Johnson & Co. have a large rolling mill and nail factory in full blast, while Mr. Lanahan and Stone are carrying on an extensive machine shop and foundry. Besides all these, the old canal is still in operation, and great quantities of coal are shipped east by it. They have good hotels, and taken altogether, it is a live instead of a defunct place. Altoona is all life, principally of a railroad nature. Ebensburg is dead, or was up to about 12 o'clock M., yesterday, when old Boreas waked up some of the moving phantoms. Crinoline "went up," (not a spout) roofs, awnings, trees and debris generally fluctuating. It was just about the time church was out, and many had gone there with their "store clothes" on, it being a beautiful morning, but when they came out you would think "patent tilters" were at a discount.

Ankles, neat and feet so dainty were at a dearth, and in vain did the victims, turn 'round, "squat down," run into doorways &c., for protection. Cotton and steel could not "lord it" over old Boreas. While this rise in divinity was going on in Ebensburg, quite a different scene was being enacted in Loretta. It seems that the Rev. Father Morgan was to have preached his farewell sermon yesterday, on the eve of his departure for Europe. An immense crowd had gathered to hear him, and while mass was being celebrated, and in the midst of the storm—the floor of the church gave way, causing an indescribable panic amongst the congregation, many supposing it was the tower that was falling. Some endeavored to get out of the windows, cutting their hands badly on the broken glass. Women and children were run over and trampled upon, while screams and shrieks of fear and consternation made frightened the timid all the more, making—together with the storm—a scene rarely witnessed. Had it been winter, and fire in the stoves, the result must have been disastrous. As it was, only a few were injured and they not seriously.

After the storm the weather turned suddenly cold, and a heavy frost this morning was the denoument.

On the train this morning we met John A. Lemon and Frank Lytle, Esq., with a full corps, on their way to Wilmore, to survey and locate a railroad five miles up the south fork of the Conemaugh, to some coal and iron works, in course of erection there. Mr. Lemon has just sold the land and site to a New York company who are putting up extensive works. Col. W. R. Pike and others, of Ebensburg, have obtained a charter for and are agitating the extension of the Cresson branch railroad to Blacklick, to bring the coal and timber of that region into market.

I found Johnstown much as usual, with the exception of a new railroad from the rolling mill to the woolen and cotton factories above town, and a new hotel, (the old Cambria House) kept by Row & Co., superintended by J. H. Benford, Esq. It is situated on Main street, is kept in first-class style, and promises to be very comfortable quarters.

OUR EARLY TELEGRAMS.

FUNDING THE NATIONAL DEBT.

Local Tax on National Banks.

GEN. SANTA ANNA A FRENCH SPY.

Naval Schools Board of Visitors.

THE TRIAL OF JEFF. DAVIS.

The Constitutional Amendment.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The Herald's Washington correspondent says: Mr. McCulloch sent to-day to the Senate Finance Committee the draft of a new bill providing for the funding of the National debt into a five per cent. consolidated loan. The Secretary of the Treasury had decided to redeem all out-standing certificates of indebtedness, and to issue no more in future.

Officers of the National Banks are writing to the Comptroller of the Currency from all parts of the country, urging the necessity of some legislation of Congress, to protect them from the additional share-holder tax imposed by the local authorities, under the recent decision of the Supreme Court, declaring such tax to be permissable under the currency act. They aver that the inevitable result will be the winding up of a large number of the National Banks if relief is not secured.

The Mexican legation here says, in reference to Santa Anna, that they regard him as a French spy, and express a hope that if he reaches Chihuahua, he will be speedily hanged.

Secretary Seward left here this morning, in the six o'clock train, en route for Auburn, by way of New York city. Mr. Seward expects to be absent about a week.

The Secretary of the Navy has appointed the following gentlemen a board of visitors to the Naval Schools: Rear Admiral John A. Dahlgren, Captain M. Walker, Commander Daniel Ammen, Surgeon David Harlan, Chief Engineer J. W. King, all of the United States Navy; Rev. Horace Bushnell, D. D., of Connecticut, Hon. J. Y. Scammon, of Illinois; Rev. Jonathan Edwards, of Pennsylvania; C. F. Dunbar, of Massachusetts, and Dr. J. H. Mitchell, of Tennessee.

A Tribune special says the indictment of Jeff. Davis has been made public, but that it contains nothing not in that published a year ago. Chief Justice Chase has signified his willingness to preside over a court in Virginia on the condition that the President issue a proclamation abolishing martial law in the State so far as the United States forces are concerned. The Chief Justice had an interview with the President on the subject last week, and the probabilities are that the latter will listen to Mr. Chase's suggestion, as he expresses himself anxious for the immediate trial of the chief instigator of the rebellion. The House Committee is preparing a report in favor of his trial by the Military Commissions for the various relations of the articles of war and the crowning in the complicity of the assassination conspiracy. The report is very voluminous and will contain a chain of circumstantial evidence, the various links of which were obtained out of the ruins of the Confederacy.

The statement sent from here that the third section of the constitutional amendment will be stricken out in the Senate, and the entire amendment more or less emasculated, is at least premature, and the wish is father to the thought. A pretty solid column will be developed in the Senate in favor of the House resolutions.

The War in South America.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The Herald's Rio Janeiro correspondence of the 7th ult., says: The Brazilian fleet had reached Thse Boksar on the Paraguay river, and was in line extending to the Paso de la Patna, on the Parana. Baron Parto Allegro is opposite Hapira with 10,000 men. The steamer Dorothea, captured by the Peruvian monitor Huescar, had been refused admission to the port and had been burned at sea.

A dinner was given on board the American steamer South America, to the distinguished gentlemen in the city, during which the most cordial harmony prevailed, and the greatest sympathy demonstrated towards the United States.

From the West Indies—The Annexation Question.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The Herald's St. Thomas, West India, correspondence says: The idea of annexation to the United States was extending, and well received in all the West India Islands.

The Mexican General, Almonte, with General Herron, sailed from St. Thomas for Europe.

Colonel Jacques Acquitted.

LOUISVILLE, May 15.—In the case of Colonel Jacques, of Illinois, whose trial on an indictment for murder has been for some days in progress, the jury this morning returned a verdict of not guilty, without leaving their seats.

The soil of the whole farm is good. The very best of fencing; a beautiful lawn in front, planted with shrubbery and trees. For a country residence, it is not surpassed, and for a profitable investment, there is no question.

Also, the best Farm in Elizabeth township, containing about 90 acres, lying on the Monongahela river, immediately below Lock No. 3, on which is erected a large two-story Brick Dwelling House, one log and one Frame Bank Barn, corn-crib, wagon shed, brick spring house, granary, work shop, &c. About 30 acres of the above is first quality river bottom; the balance being limestone land, and underlaid with coal, and about 20 acres of limestone. There are two orchards of apple trees, in good bearing condition; peach, pear, plum trees and grape vines, &c. The land is well adapted for gardening purposes, being a short distance from the thriving borough of Elizabeth, creating a market at home for all the products. This property will be sold cheap and on good terms.

Also, a Farm of 117 acres, situate in Fallowfield township, Washington county, Pa., about 2 miles from the town of Bentleysville. The improvements are, first, a two story frame house with five rooms; second, a two-and-a-half story hewed log house; third, a No. 1 new barn, 60 by 40 feet; a good spring house, three large orchards of different fruit; apple, peach, pear, plum, quinces, cherry, &c.; 90 acres cleared; the remainder in good timber. The land is level and of the very best quality, and will be sold at a reduced price.

Also, a Farm of about 120 acres, in Fairfield township, Westmoreland Co., Pa. The improvements are a hewed log house, with kitchen attached, a log barn and a tenant house; a good apple orchard, peaches and cherries; about 80 acres cleared, the remainder in the very best white oak timber. The land is good. The location is very healthy. This property I will sell very cheap. Possession immediately.

This property I am authorized to sell very cheap.

Also, a farm of about 200 acres, situated in West Wheatfield Township, Indiana county, Penna. The improvements are a good, comfortable, two-story Frame House, with 6 rooms, a large frame barn, carriage house, good corn crib, wash house, bake oven and a two-story stone spring house; about 150 acres cleared and in timothy and clover; a good orchard of apple, peach, pear and quince trees. The fencing is generally good. The land is of a good quality, abundance of limestone, and but a short distance from coal. This property will be sold very cheap.

Also, a Farm of about 240 acres adjoining the above. The improvements are a large two story Log House and a large frame barn; 175 acres cleared and under a good state of cultivation; a small apple orchard; a large two-story milk-house. These two farms united would make a first-rate Stock Farm, or will be sold separately.

Also, the best farm in Fairfield township, Westmoreland county, Pa., containing 242 acres; about 6 miles south of the Pa. Railroad. The improvements are two large hewed log houses; one of the largest and best frame barns in the township; two apple orchards. The whole farm is under a high state of cultivation. The fencing is all No. 1. The land is of the very best limestone; about 200 acres cleared, the balance in good timber. Possession on the first day of April, 1866. This property will be sold at a great bargain. The owner wishes to engage in other business.

Also, a Farm of 150 acres, situate in McCandless township, Allegheny county, Pa., about 8 miles from the city. The improvements are a Log House, a good barn, a young orchard of apple, peach and pear. I will sell this valuable property very cheap and on easy terms.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

TUESDAY, May 15, 1865.

Gold continues to fluctuate considerably, being quoted at 129¾ in New York to-day, against 130¾ yesterday. Government bonds firm and a shade higher; 1881's, 109; 5-20's, 102; 7-30's, 102⅜.

The failure of Work, McCouch & Co., of Philadelphia, on Monday, was followed to-day by the suspension of Messrs. Kramer & Rahm, here, the former being a branch house of the latter, and it was the failure of the Philadelphia concern, that brought about the suspension of Messrs. K. & R. We are without particulars, though it is stated on the street, that Messrs. K. & R. will be able to secure all their depositors, and open again in a few days. This house is one of the oldest, and has always been considered one of the most reliable banking institutions in the city, and the suspension created considerable excitement in financial circles.

There was no movement in our local stock market to-day worthy of special notice. Bank stocks are in fair demand, and held very firmly, while Insurance and Oil shares are dull and weak.

The steamer City of Paris, with dates to May 3, brings somewhat discouraging advices respecting financial affairs in England and on the continent. The still threatening aspect of the European situation has a demoralizing effect upon the money markets of London and Paris, and foreign securities continued to decline. The Bank of England has advanced its rate of discount to 7 per cent, the effect of which was felt in Liverpool in a decline on cotton to 14d per pound. On the 3d inst., consols closed at 87⅛@86⅞. American securities had declined, in sympathy with the prevailing panic. Five Twenties closed, on the 3d, at 68@68½; Erie at 49½@50; and Illinois Central at 77@78.

—The New York World, of Monday, says:

"The accumulation of unemployed funds in this city seeking employment in short or temporary loans threatens a plethora of loanable funds, which will certainly find vent in the hands of speculators, probably in stocks, as the easiest to get in and out of, unless the Treasury Department inaugurates, without delay, some movement which will employ the funds in government securities. Large sums are begging for employment at four per cent to strictly first-class borrowers; and four to five per cent comprise the range to those borrowers who command the confidence of the banks and money lenders. The legitimate trading of the country will not disturb the ease in money until the demand in August and September for funds to move the crops. If Congress intends to pass Mr. Sherman's Funding bill, the sooner it becomes a law the better, in order that the government may avail itself of the present extraordinary accumulation of unemployed funds at the money centers. The bill ought to have been passed and in operation at the beginning of April, at the very latest. These remarks as to the prompt passage of Mr. Sherman's bill are not intended as any expression of opinion as to its merits."

—The following interesting facts in reference to the national finances have been furnished by the Department to the Committee of Ways and Means: Treasury receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1865, $329,567,126—divided as follows: Customs, $84,928,000; Internal Revenue, $209,464,000; Miscellaneous, $35,175,126. The estimated receipts for the current year ending June 30, 1866, amount to $511,967,083. From Customs, $392,226,399; from Internal Revenue, $283,800,548, and from miscellaneous, $38,683,309. The monthly average of Customs for nine months is $14,000,000, and from Internal Revenue, $27,000,000.

—With the advance of exchange there is some export of gold again, and the impression seems to have been formed that the premium on gold will continue until after the payment of the July interest unless the government should become a seller. The specie taken out from New York on Saturday was by the Borussia $122,000, the Etna $500,000, and the Arago $452,495—making a total of $1,075,495, and on Saturday previous $571,751 was exported, principally in bullion. As the government has been paying off its May dividends, and some of our bonds have been returned from Europe and sold at a good profit by reason of the advanced premium on gold, it is reasonable to suppose that the export of specie recently is chiefly on account of the foreign holders and dealers in our securities. Since the 1st of May $8,925,000 gold interest has been paid out on the public debt at New York, and $3,767,000 has been received from customs, the payments being in excess of the receipts exactly $5,150,000. Nearly all the disbursements however, have been paid in gold certificates of deposit, of which $14,230,000 were outstanding on the 10th. In the meantime over a million and a half of coin and bullion has been received from California.

—The Chicago Republican, of Monday, says:

"We call attention to the statement in our live stock report, that the business of the Union Stock Yard Bank, at the Union Stock Yards, for the week just closing, reached the sum of $1,200,000. This statement is made on the authority of Mr. DeKoven, cashier of the bank, and is given simply to convey some idea of the extent of the live stock trade for the week."

—The Chicago Evening Journal, of Monday, reports money matters in that city, as follows:

The week opens on a comfortably easy money market, notwithstanding an increased demand from Grain operators. The inquiry from merchants generally is comparatively light, and even smaller than before the opening of lake navigation.

Deposits are steadily increasing, and a plethora of money in the course of a few weeks is not improbable, notwithstanding the immense shipments of currency which have been made to New York daily for the past six months, for the purpose of making exchange. Rates of interest are, however, firm, at 10 per cent at the banks and at 18@24 per cent on the street.

New York Money and Stock Market.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Gold closed at $1,29⅝. It is supposed that the Government sold about $100,000 at $1,30. Exchange moderate at $1,09⅝. The Government securities were rather firmer towards the close, and especially on 10-40 coupons, which are the favorites at present. At the produce exchange there is a continued depression in the market for wheat and flour, with a further decline. Corn was firm at the last board. The market was strong on railways. Petroleum and mining shares unchanged.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Money easy at 4@5 per cent. Sterling firm at 109¾@109⅞. Gold lower, opening at 130⅜, advancing to 130⅜, and closing at 130⅛. Government Stocks are steady. PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
TUESDAY, May 15, 1866. }

There has been no new characteristics in the produce markets to-day worthy of special notice. The demand for most of the leading commodities continues fair, but there is no special excitement, and prices have undergone no quotable change.

GRAIN—Wheat is coming in pretty freely, but there is not much offering, the most of that arriving now having previously been sold. We can report a sale of 3 cars prime Wisconsin White at $2,80. Oats in good supply and dull but unchanged; sale of 3 cars Chicago at 52—prime Penna Oats are quoted 2@3c higher. Corn is scarce and firm; sale of 1 car prime Shelled at 85. No movement in Rye or Barley.

FLOUR—The market is less excited, but there is a continued fair local demand, and prices remain unchanged. We can report regular sales from store at prices ranging from $11 to $13 per bbl for Spring and Winter Wheat brands. Rye Flour is scarce and higher, being held at $6,50@6,75.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is steady, with a very fair jobbing demand at 14@14½ for Shoulders; 17@17½ for Ribbed Sides; 21@22 for Plain Sugar Cured Hams; and 23 for Canvassed do. Lard is quiet at 23, for prime city, while Mess Pork is held pretty firmly at $32@32,50.

POTATOES—Not so much excited, but scarce and firm. Sales of prime Peach Blows in a regular way from store at $1,30 to $1,35 per bush, and $3,75@4 per bbl.

DRIED FRUIT—Is scarce and firm but unchanged; sales at 15 to 17 for Apples, and 18 to 22 for Peaches.

EGGS—In fair demand, but prices are irregular, being quoted all the way from 17 to 20.

BUTTER—Continues dull and in good supply, but nominally unchanged. Prime fresh Roll sells at from 25 to 27, and common do at 20@22.

SEEDS—There is but little inquiry for either Clover or Timothy Seed, the season being about over. Flaxseed is in demand at $2,60@2,65.

SALT—Continues very dull—in fact, there is scarcely enough doing in the article to establish quotations. Sales in a small way from store at $2,45@2,50.

HAY—Baled Hay is dull and rather lower, though the supply is limited. Loose Hay is selling at from $18 to $25 per ton, as to quality.

HOMINY—Is selling at 4@4½ in small lots.

BEANS—Dull but unchanged; sales of prime small White at $2,75 per bushel.

OIL—Sales of No. 1 Lard at $1,85.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE }
TUESDAY, May 15, 1866. }

CRUDE—The market for Crude was remarkably quiet and a little dull to-day, the demand being very light, both refiners and shippers holding off in expectation of a decline, and, notwithstanding the stock is light and the arrivals limited, holders seem more anxious to realize. We can report sales of 100 bbls (35 to 37 gravity) at 15¼; 170 do do, (40 gravity) at 16; and 160 (35 to 37 gravity) at 15. Quotations may be given nominally at 15 to 16, bbls returned, and 20 to 21, bbls included, and these may be regarded as the extremes of the market. Telegrams from Oil City to-day report Crude at $5,50 at the wells, and $6 at that point, though we are of the opinion that but very few buyers will be found at these figures.

REFINED—There was but very little inquiry for bonded oil to-day, and with very unfavorable reports, both from the east and Europe the indications at present are by no means encouraging. It is said quite a large number of orders for export have been withdrawn since the arrival of the last steamer, and some parties who were anxious to contract a few days ago are indifferent now about entering into new engagements, though this may all be for effect—possibly a bear movement to break down the market, yet there is no getting over the fact that the market is, comparatively speaking, very dull at present, and it is equally true that the advices by the last steamer were very unfavorable. There was not a single operation to-day that we could hear of. Quotations for Philadelphia delivery may be fairly given at 42 for May; 43 to 43½ for June; 44 to 44½ for July, and 45@45½ for August. No movement in free oil.

ARRIVALS—The arrivals of oil by the Allegheny River since our last report, were as follows:

ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
TUESDAY, May 15, 1866 }

CATTLE—The offerings of cattle were rather larger than for some weeks past, reaching in the aggregate about nine hundred head but with a very good demand, both for home consumption and shipment, the market ruled firm and prices have still further advanced. There is no disguising the fact, however, that had it not been for the presence of some two or three shippers, who bought pretty freely, the market would undoubtedly have been a hard one, as the supply, would, in that event, have been considerably in excess of the demand, and holders would have been compelled to make concessions. As it was, holders, notwithstanding the advance, did not realize anything beyond an average profit, as their cattle cost them more in the west, and, as a matter of course, they were obliged to put up prices here. As will be seen by reference to the sales, good to extra fat cattle sold from 8 to 8,50 per pound, gross, while common to fairish stock may be quoted at 6½ to 7½. Among other buyers, Klemen & Co. bought 10 car loads for shipment east, and Myers & Needy and Greenwald & Kahn, also, bought several droves.

SHEEP AND LAMBS—The offerings of sheep were rather larger than last week, and with a supply fully up to the demand, the market ruled a little tame, and, if anything, prices a shade lower. M. Lafferty retailed 150 head clipped, at 5½@5¾; John Simmers 155 head at 6¼ to 7.40, for clipped and wooled, and Sturgeon sold 48 head clipped, averaging 83 lbs, to Hines, at 4½. In addition there were quite a number of sales made, the particulars of which we were unable to learn. Lambs, of which the supply was larger than usual, sold at from $2 to $4½ per head, according to size and quality.

HOGS—There was nothing done in this class of stock, there apparently being no demand whatever, and, in the absence of sales, we omit quotations. The inquiry for fresh pork is usually very slight at this season of the year, and this year is by no means an exception to the general rule.

The market for Beef Cattle was firmer under a more active demand, and a material falling off in prices showed an improvement of from ½@1c per pound, varying from $15 to $18 as to quality, mainly in the hands of speculators, who were compelled to sell their droves at some decline from the commencement of business. Veals were in fair demand, mainly at 7@11c, but some at 11c. Sheep and Lambs were in fair demand at from $4 to $10. Swine scarcely so high, though in fair demand, at from 10 to 10¾c.

RIVER NEWS.

RIVER, WEATHER, ETC.

The river, we regret to say, is again receding steadily at this point, with scant four and a half feet in the channel by the Monongahela pier marks last evening. At Oil City the telegraph reports two feet, which shows a rise of six inches as compared with Monday's report. The weather yesterday was clear and pleasant and business, apparently, was a little more active at the wharf.

The Leni Leoti, from Parkersburg, was the only arrival since our last report. The Emma Graham, due here from Zanesville on Saturday night, has failed to make her appearance yet, and we have no knowledge of her whereabouts or the cause of her detention.

The Silver Cloud, for St. Louis, and Citizen, for Missouri River, left last evening with all the freight they could take on the water.

The Fayette and Chieftan arrived from Brownsville on Monday night, and they both left again last evening. They are both fine passenger packets, and are in charge of careful and experienced officers, notwithstanding they belong to competing lines. Capt. Cox, of the Fayette, is acknowledged to be one of the most popular and affable steamboatmen on the western waters.

The Leonidas, in command of Capt. Frank Marratta, is receiving freight for St. Louis and all intermediate points, and passengers and shippers should bear this fact in mind.

The Yorktown arrived at St. Louis on Saturday last, and the Emma No. 2 was advertised to leave there for Pittsburgh on Monday.

A NEW IDEA.—Yesterday we noticed a new idea being tested, for the generation of steam, by substituting coal oil in place of wood or coal. Captain Hugh Funk, an old river pilot, of this city, is the inventor, and he seems confident of success. He has had a small bioler constructed, with fire walls, smoke stack, safety valve, &c., at the brass foundry of Mr. Ben Lemmon, and the matter is now being tested. His plan is about as follows: A large reservoir, containing coal oil, is placed in the rear of the boilers, at any point between that and the stern of the boat, if desirable. Pipes lead from the reservoir, under the boilers, with large burners attached, which can be lighted with a match. Stop-cocks are placed in the tubes to guage the flow of oil to a certain quantity. He claims for this invention economy in various ways. It does away with firemen, coal heavers, &c. The space occupied carrying fuel, not to say anything of the loss of time and labor taking it on board, can be appropriated to freight. This is a large item to a steamboat, and he calculates that, if oil costs five dollars per gallon, it will be a saving. We saw the model being tested, and our opinion is that it can be operated successfully. The boiler is ten inches long, and three and a half inches in diameter, with two flues. It has one burner, and it takes three teaspoonfuls of oil to raise steam, while four will show 140 pounds pressure. We shall have more to say of this invention soon.—[New Albany Com. 11th.

Monday's Cincinnati Commercial, says:

The river has risen twelve inches during the twenty-four hours ending last night, with seventeen feet hence to Louisville. There is six and one-half feet in the canal. The Lower Ohio is in fine navigable order. There are 3½ feet and falling in the Cumberland. The Armenia and Robt. Moore, from Pittsburgh, were among the arrivals. The Nora departed for Pittsburgh. Capt. J. R. Hatcher will arrive from Pittsburgh to-day, having purchased a staunch tow-boat at that point, and four barges at Cincinnati, for the freighting trade between St. Louis and St. Paul. Three of the barges purchased by Capt. Hatcher are named the Judea, Robt. Rodgers, and Rev. Wiley.
